British Labor Party Calls For Abolition of Country's Hereditary Chamber

Conservatives Say Chamber Needed

At Convention Conservatives Declare For Increase in Powers of House of Lords

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Blackpool, Eng., Oct. 7. — Almost at the same time the British Labor Party conference in Leicester was voting for abolition of the House of Lords as "dangerous and unnecessary," the British Conservative Party conference today unanimously resolved itself in favor of a reform of the Upper House which would increase its powers.

The resolution was a counter move to the aim of the Labor Party to establish a Socialist state and requested a reform of the Upper House which would deal adequately with both "its composition and its powers."

DESIRE MORE POWER

According to speeches of those supporting the resolution, the reform contemplated would strengthen the House of Lords. Rt. Hon. Sir Arthur Steel-Maitland, who has held prominent positions in former ministries, said that under present conditions "all the fundamentals of a Communist system could be established by a bill which could be certified as money bill, which the House of Lords could neither criticise nor prevent. The House of Lords is now only a ricketty parapet at the edge of a precipice."

Subsequent speakers urged the need of a brake on Socialist tendencies as revealed at Leicester. One delegate

At last reports negotiations were still in progress for the release of Charles Corkran, left, and Mrs. Pauly, right, British subjects, who were seized weeks ago by a bandit gang in Manchuria. Committee Groups Disagree On Scale For Teachers' Pay

Public Panel Recommends One Schedule For Whole of B.C.; Teachers' Panel Suggests Four Scales

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—Finding it impossible to harmonize the views of various members, the provincial teachers' salary committee appointed by the Department of Education to consider a standard scale of salaries, has agreed to present separate reports.

The public panel of the committee, composed of representatives of school boards and the government, will make a report calling for one scale of salaries for the entire province, while the teachers' panel will propose four different scales.

DIFFERENCE IS IMPORTANT

A statement issued by R. H. Neelands, secretary of the public panel, and J. Sanford, secretary of the teachers' panel, says that at the last meeting of the committee, held in Vancouver, "the alternative plans submitted by the public panel and the teachers' panel were carefully considered. That of the public panel called for only one scale for all parts of the province,

INSULL CASE FUNDS VOTED

Cook County Board at Chicago Willing to Support Extradition

Not Known To-day in What Part of Europe Samuel Insull Is

Associated Press

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Cook County decided to-day to pay "all reasonable expenses" for the return of Samuel and Martin Insull to Chicago to face charges of embezzlement and larceny.

Emmet Whealan, president of the county board, announced the decision after appearing before the grand jury that indicted the Insulls. State Attorney John A. Swanson had asked the jury to investigate what he termed "the refusal of the county to pay expenses of the case."

"The jurors apparently had the impression the county board was trying to block the investigation, but I assured them of my utmost co-operation," Whealan said after spending forty-five minutes in the jury room.

Whealan said Swanson had asked for $50,000 expense money for the case but that the county board would not consider granting that amount. He said he would recommend furnishing about $10,000 to be used in returning Samuel Insull from Europe and Martin, who is now in custody in Barrie, Ontario.

ALL SAVED IN CONVENT FIRE

No Serious Injuries Suffered; Children March Out; Buildings Destroyed

Canadian Press

Fort Vermilion, Alta., Oct. 7.—Only valiant efforts on the part of scores of rescue workers, directed by hospital sisters, averted a tragedy here to-day when flames of unknown origin swept through St. Henry's Convent and the St. Therese Hospital.

Bedridden patients were carried to safety by the workers and although there were numerous narrow escapes in the blazing buildings, not a single life was lost, nor did anyone suffer serious injuries.

The fire broke out at 6 a.m., rapidly spreading through the convent and the hospital. By 9 o'clock the convent had been razed and the hospital was in ruins.

At that time the volunteer workers, including all available ablebddied persons in the settlement, engaged in a desperate battle to keep the flames from spreading from blazing woodpiles to the boys' dormitory and school.

Warehouses and stables were endangered.

Children of the school marched to safety as soon as the alarm was given and worked like Trojans, the older ones carrying books and property from the school-rooms while adults were engaged in clearing the hospital of patients.

Premier Bennett Announces He Will Introduce Redistribution Bill at Sitting on Monday

No Private Bills Before New Year

Saskatchewan Liberal Asks Commons to Name Committee to Discuss Distinctive Flag For Canada

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 7. — Premier Bennett will introduce in the Commons next Monday a bill redistributing representation in the House. He gave notice of this to-day.

It will be the regular decennial redistribution, based on the census of 1931. The province of Quebec, with a set representation of sixty-five, will be the basis, the other provinces having as many members as the ratio between their population and that of Quebec.

The Prime Minister also gave notice to-day he would move in the Commons that government legislation have precedence over all other until the end of the fall session. This would mean no private members' legislation would be considered before the resumption of the session early in January.

The redistribution bill will not alter the total number of members in the House, which will remain at 245. British Columbia, which has now fourteen, will gain two members and Alberta one. Nova Scotia will lose two members and New Brunswick will lose one. Representation from the other provinces will remain the same.

The bill will change the boundary lines of many constituencies, some being made smaller and others larger. In Ontario, for instance the number of members will remain the same, but urban centres may be given more representation by abolition of some rural ridings.

FLAG DISCUSSION

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The Commons may decide this session whether Canada will adopt a distinctive flag. Carmeron R. McIntosh, Liberal, North Battleford, Sask., to-day gave notice of the following resolution:

OREGON FIRES AGAIN BLAZE

Strong Wind Fans Embers to New Life After Conflagration Under Control

Associated Press

Portland, Ore., Oct. 7.—A strong wind, approaching gale velocity, arose in the Shadybrook area near Hillsboro, to-day, driving to new life embers of forest fires which yesterday were believed to be within control.

Should the wind continue throughout the day it was feared three residences and the Arcade school house in the path of the flames would be consumed.

This was the biggest fire remaining after a week which brought the most disastrous timber fires the Pacific Northwest has experienced, rendering several hundred families homeless and causing property damage estimated at nearly $3,000,000.

C. C. Scott, head of the Oregon Forest fire patrol, declared to-day that "about all we can do is to fight the fires and pray harder for rain."

SURGEON WINS VANCOUVER SUIT

Action of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Plowright Against Dr. G. E. Seldon For $57,930 Dismissed After Long Trial; Great Public Interest

Canadian Press

This verdict, returned by Foreman John Bruce Cowan in the B.C. Supreme Court here yesterday evening ended a nine-day trial in which Lawrence Geoffrey Plowright and his wife, Maria Eleanor Plowright, Vancouver, claimed $57,930 damages from Dr. George E. Seldon, Vancouver surgeon.

Mr. Justice Fisher, on motion of Gordon Sloan, counsel with J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., for the defence, promptly dismissed the action with costs. The eight-man jury had deliberated four hours and twenty-five minutes.

THE CLAIMS

Mrs. Plowright claimed $50,000 damages for alleged failure of Dr. Seldon to set her dislocated left hip on January 1, 1931. Her husband, a clerk in the provincial collector's office at the Courthouse here, claimed $5,430 for expenses incurred in connection with his wife's injuries and $2,500 damages for loss of her society.

It was charged against Dr. Seldon that he had failed to restore the head of the thigh bone to the hip socket in a reduction operation in the Vancouver General Hospital on New Year's Day, 1931. The defendant's course of treatment was attacked.

Dr. Seldon was supported by the evidence of three of Vancouver's leading surgeons: Dr. R. E. McKechnie, Dr. P. A. McLennan and Dr. Frank P. Patterson and by Dr. W. E. Gallie of Toronto, recognized authority in bone and joint surgery.

MISSING GIRL FOUND ON ROAD

Associated Press

Port Angeles, Oct. 7.—An attractive little barefoot, blonde girl, found wandering beside a country road near here yesterday, apparently suffering from loss of memory, to-day was identified as Doris Verdis, fourteen, of Edmonds.

Identification was made by the Edmonds city marshal, who planned to return the girl to her home. He said she had left home previously under similar circumstances.

When picked up by officers as she trudged in her bare feet along the road, she was unable to remember how she had come there or where from. She told them her name was Mary, but could remember only incidents of the previous day, and those were quite hazy.

Alex. Speller, father of eight children, drew a starter for the Cesarewitch in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstake.

He is at least $6,000 richer this morning. Next Wednesday he may be better off to the extent of $150,000, depending on the running of his horse, Prince Oxendon, in the English turf classic.

Mr. Speller is the proprietor of a grocery store on Carey Road.

According to advices available to-day he is the only person in British Columbia to have drawn a horse in the Irish sweep.

Several people in Canada drew horses. A Toronto man, with the insignia of "Jocky Scotty," got the favorite, Gainsborough. Roi de Paris was drawn by three people and Son of Mint by two.

Mr. Speller is not speculating particularly about how much he may win when the race is run next Wednesday. "I know already what I will do with the prize I'm to get so far," he

New Lumber Markets For B.C. Are Sought

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—Lumber shipments to Great Britain during the first eight months of this year, totaled 69,000,000 feet, constituting an all-time record, according to figures compiled.

On this basis, shipments from British Columbia will exceed 100,000,000 feet this year, eclipsing the 1930 record of 98,057,621.

These gains are being made at the expense of Oregon and Washington exporters, it is revealed, for British Columbia this year is supplying 60 per cent of the lumber shipped from the Pacific Northwest, representing an advance of about 35 per cent over 1931, when it supplied only one-quarter.

The decision of the B.C. Lumber Manufacturers' Association to send four of its members to survey conditions in Great Britain is expected to do much to improve the export trade

DEPORTATIONS NOT NEEDED

Mrs. Keith-Miller and Pilot W. N. Lancaster to Leave United States

Associated Press

Washington, Oct. 7.—The United States Labor Department to-day dismissed deportation warrants against Captain W. N. Lancaster and Mrs. Jessie M. Keith-Miller with the understanding they would voluntarily leave the country next Friday.

Officials at the Labor Department said the case was closed so far as they were concerned and counsel for the Australian flier and Mrs. Miller said they had booked passage for Friday.

Deportation warrants were sworn out against the two after the trial and acquittal of Captain Lancaster on a charge of having killed Haden Clarke, a writer, at Miami, Florida.

Labor officials later investigated reports the two had been parties to smuggling of aliens into the country from Cuba, but no action was taken.

The Labor Department said this phase of the case was being dropped as well as the deportation action.

Treaty Will Be Introduced in U.S. Congress in December; Canadian Parliament Will Not Act Till Decision of Congress Made

Canadian Press

Washington, Oct. 7—Ratification of the St. Lawrence Waterways Treaty with Canada before the Christmas recess of the United States Congress is considered improbable by observers here.

Supporters of the treaty intend seeking Senate ratification at the approaching session, which will end March 4, but stern opposition is developing and a filibuster threat is in prospect. Serious opposition may block ratification at the short session.

Senator W. E. Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, will call hearings on the treaty immediately after the election of November 8 with a view to presenting the pact to the Senate shortly after it convenes in December.

St. Lawrence Treaty Outlook Uncertain

The bare announcement in the Speech from the Throne read at the opening of Parliament yesterday indicates the next move in connection with the waterway scheme is up to the United States.

The government of Canada intends to sit back and see whether the administration at Washington is able to get the treaty past the Senate, a graveyard of so many foreign treaties, before it asks Parliament to approve it.

The difference between the legislative machinery of Canada and the United States is nowhere better illustrated than in connection with the ratification of treaties. Were Premier Bennett to ask Parliament to ratify the treaty to-morrow his majority in both Houses would leave no likelihood for rejection. Those opposing might fight, but in the end the government supporters would force a vote and win.

FREEDOM OF OPINION

In the United States it is different. With the executive branch of the government detached from the legislative branch, a president who enters into a treaty with a foreign power has no assurance of getting it through Congress. Party lines are usually disregarded in the two Houses of Congress, and Republican members of Congress feel no obligation to support all the acts of a Republican administration.

In the past it has happened the Parliament of Canada has ratified a treaty with the United States only to find it rejected by Congress. The sockeye salmon treaty was one instance.

Two Banks Believed Liable For $300,000 in Manitoba University Shortages

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—"Guarantees of improper signatures on bond transfers have rendered two Winnipeg banks liable for $300,000 in connection with shortages in the University of Manitoba trust funds, and it is expected civil action for recovery of that amount will be launched before long," the Winnipeg Free Press says it learned to-day.

"Since April, 1930, it is learned, bonds, registered in the name of the University of Manitoba, have been sold, the transfers bearing the names of John A. Machray and W. B. H. Teakles," the newspaper adds. "In accordance with legal provisions in all such transfers, the signatures have to be guaranteed by a bank. While Mr. Machray in his position as chairman of the University board of governors and honorary bursar was entitled to sign, the only other signature authorized by the University Act was that of Dr. W. J. Spence, university registrar."

"No authority exists for the acceptance of V. Teakles's signature and the banks' guarantee in his case renders them liable for the full amount," (Teakles is assistant to Dr. Spence), The Free Press concludes.

NEW PRODUCTION BASIS ON PLAINS

SAY PROVINCE LAND OF HOPE

Tell Cheering News at Annual Convention in Vancouver To-day

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 7—In every part of British Columbia there is some phase of activity that keeps alive the spirit of hope and optimism. Editors of the weekly newspapers, assembled for their annual convention, vied with each other in recounting the hopeful tendencies.

W. S. Harris, editor of The Vernon News and president of the Weekly Newspapers Association, is delighted with the "cartel" formed for marketing the Okanagan fruit crop.

It controls about 95 per cent of the movement and has steadied every market except Vancouver, he says. The wild shippers who have stayed outside the cartel have picked on the Vancouver market because it is the closest. Consequently prices in Vancouver are unstable.

So far only one shipper in the cartel has reached his 40 per cent for the domestic market. The agreement is that no shipper will dispose of more than 40 per cent of his pack in the Canadian market until everybody has reached that percentage. Prices are good, says Mr. Harris, in both domestic and export fields.

H. M. Walker, editor of The Enderby Commoner, finds ground for hopefulness in the way in which the younger generation is taking hold. These young fellows, some of whom have had university training, are showing an eagerness to modernize methods and to organize community effort that will before many years revolutionize farming methods in the Enderby district, Mr. Walker believes. The older generations find it hard to change the methods of a life-time, but they are showing a willingness to accept leadership from the young that is most commendable, he says.

ACQUIRE SOWS

An evidence of the new alertness to changing conditions was the acquisition of twenty sows in the district this fall for the purpose of breeding bacon hogs, an industry that the Empire Conference emphasized.

Kamloops tomato growers had a hard time meeting the demands of the canners this year, said Ralph E. White, publisher of The Kamloops Sentinel. The crop was large and escaped the early frost that did so much damage in other districts, he said. Prices were not high, but the demand for semi-ripes made it hard for the canners to obtain all they required for their operations. The new tomato juice habit had helped this industry, said Mr. White.

T. A. Love, editor of The Grand Forks Gazette, also mayor of his city, was particularly happy to-day because he had obtained the final order-in-council at Victoria yesterday aproving the installation of the city's publicly owned hydro-electric plant.

The steady operation and expansion of the Union Mine, just north of Grand Forks, had been of inestimable benefit to that city, he said. The company employs about 100 men and has maintained its wage scale.

Recently the company shipped a car of ore that yielded $50,000, the largest yield for a single car in history, said Mr. Love. The company has bought up a number of other claims and additional development work is projected.

CALL FOR VOTE ON BEER SALES

B.C. Prohibition Association Wants Plebiscite at Next Provincial Election

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—A plebiscite at the next provincial election on the sale of beer, petitions in "wet" constituencies for closing of government liquor stores, prohibition of liquor advertising and introduction of graded courses of temperance in schools were policy objectives pledged yesterday at the British Columbia Prohibition Association convention here.

"There is a falling down in parental responsibility to social usage, due to many trends of life, and we must emphasize our educational policy," Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson said.

The delegates adopted policy committee recommendations that the government be requested to provide graded courses of scientific facts relating to the effect of alcohol on the human system and its economic wastage.

AGAINST PARTIES

Neither Liberals nor Conservatives would have the support of the British Columbia Prohibition Association at the next provincial election, according to a resolution passed at yesterday afternoon's session.

"Both Liberal and Conservative parties have forfeited all claim to our support in the next provincial election," the resolution declared. "We are of the opinion the time has arrived when all temperance people throughout the province should rise above party considerations and vote only for men and women of high ideals.

Both political parties were censured for their treatment of the liquor problem in a lengthy preamble to the measure.

Comment was also made on "action of the Attorney-General during the Esquimalt beer plebiscite," and a reported interview with him in a Seattle newspaper in which he was said to have expressed views against prohibition. "Action of Hon. N. Loughheed in taking part in a government control plebiscite in Nova Scotia, as reported in a Halifax paper," was also mentioned in the preamble.

M. E. Nichols Says Suggestion Wheat Crop Will Not Be Sold Is "Foolish Pessimism"

Canadian Press

Toronto, Oct. 7—Farmers of the priaries, in surmounting the low-price short-crop problems of the last three years, have girded themselves against recurrence of such adversity, says M. E. Nichols, managing director of The Winnipeg Tribune and president of The Canadian Press.

Speaking at a meeting of directors of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association here, he said it had taken three crop failures in the rich wheat growing district of souh Saskatchewan to bring about the change to mixed farming effected in Manitoba's wheat country by the short crop of a decade ago. But just as Manitoba farmers had been able to survive poor crops of late; by virtue of their keeping cattle, poultry and hogs, so Saskatchewan farmers had guarded against future bad times by turning to diversification.

HOLD THEIR GROUND

"People of the west have maintained their morale in the face of adversity as has been done in no other part of Canada," said Mr. Nichols. "Their confidence good crops would come again has been justified and their industry in difficult times has won them a consolidated position. Last year, with water and fodder so scarce cattle were being killed or sent to green pastures in the north, Saskatchewan had 67,000 on relief. This year there will be fewer than 7,000, and water and fodder are abundant."

Mr. Nichols described as "foolish pessimism" the suggestion this year's good wheat crop on the prairies would not be sold. While he conceded the price outlook was not particularly promising, he felt the plains farmers had got down to a basis of production a a cost unmatched anywhere in the world. Wheat was moving to the market, Mr. Nichols said, as indicated by the fact that one day last week the two railways had moved wheat bringing gross earnings of $1,500,000.

Mrs. Insull, still at the hotel, refused to answer any questions about him.

The United States Embassy also declined to say whether a request for extradition for Insull had been received from the United States.

By Jack Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Barrie, Ont., Oct. 7.—In the cold, gray dawn of a blustery autumn day, Martin J. Insull, seventy-two-year-old former utilities magnate, rose from a hard cot in the county jail here to-day.

Stripped of his wealth in a financial debacle which rocked the entire Middle Western United States, sought by Chicago authorities on a warrant charging larceny and embezzlement of half a million dollars, Insull yesterday surrendered to Inspector J. H. Putman of the Ontario provincial police.

Less than half an hour later, he had appeared before Judge Dudley Holmes, senior judge of Simcoe County, and had been remanded until October 14. Then the jail gates yawned for Martin Insull, and the first stage of what promised to be a lengthy legal battle on his part began.

John Hampton, assistant state attorney of Cook County (Chicago), Illinois, declared he would resist to the utmost any application for bail.

Insull was arrested on a provisional warrant which alleged he stole money from two Insull concerns and used it to finance stock transactions. The warrant was signed yesterday by Mr. Justice W. A. Logie of the Ontario Supreme Court. It called for the apprehension of the former power baron. But before Insull is returned to Chicago, if he is returned, many weeks will pass.

The next step in the legal procedure is for the United States Government to appeal to the government of this country for the return of the prisoner.

Insull had definitely refused to waive extradition proceedings before Hampton obtained the warrant for his arrest. He is a British subject, this man, whose business house fell in a crash which shook a country, and unless the Canadian Government agrees to turn him over to United States officials there is nothing the latter can do.

Contrary to expectations, Insull, who had been living with his wife in a boarding house in Orilla, Ont., came to Barrie himself shortly after Hampton had arrived at provincial police headquarters with the warrant for his arrest. The Chicago official had left Toronto immediately after receiving the warrant, and motored through a driving rainstorm, over slippery pavements to witness the end of a dramatic episode.

RETURN TO CHICAGO

Toronto, Oct. 7.—John Hampton, assistant state attorney for Cook county, Illinois, instrumental in bringing about the arrest of Martin J. Insull, former utilities magnate, left for Chicago by airplane to-day. With Hampton was Detective Sergeant Anthony Blaze and several newspapermen.

FIRE RAGING IN OLYMPICS

Port Angeles, Oct. 7.—A forest fire on a ten-mile point was reported raging around Quilcene to-day on the Olympic Highway, fifty miles east of here.

All communication lines were down between here and Quilcene. Motorists who came through there yesterday evening reported burning snags were falling across the highway. Three residences on the outskirts of Quilcene, a town of 400 population, were destroyed by the blaze, but no loss of life was reported. The houses belonged to Mrs. C. J. West, John Lindquist and Frank Beck. Two cabins in the Wildwood Auto Park here burned, as well as a large poultry house belinging to Bert Kruss. About forty fire fighters, assisted by the towns people, were fighting the blaze yesterday evening.

pictured the possibility of Labor returning to power in four or five years "drunk with the vodka of Russia," while another emphasized that if the revolutionary measures were to be introduced under the guise of a finance bill the only remaining safeguard would be the dormant veto power of the King.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

NO CHANGE IN NAME

A resolution desiring the adoption of a different name for the party was declared lost. The point urged was the desirability of enabling "all National members of Parliament and the electors generally to adhere permanently to the national cause as represented by the government." Those supporting the resolution urged the need of a united Conservative National and Liberal front against the Socialism of the Labor Party. Much opposition was shown to discarding the name "Unionist," official designation of the Conservative Party, however, and on a show of hands the resolution was lost.

LABOR'S VIEWS

Leicester, Eng. Oct. 7.—The British Labor Party conference wound up its five-day annual meeting here to-day with the singing of the "Red Flag" and the passing of a resolution demanding abolition of the House of Lords as "dangerous and unnecessary."

A second resolution urging the parliamentary Labor Party to continue to oppose the projective tariff policy of the present government or of any other government, was carried, as was a third one expressing the opinion the deplorable state of the mining industry could be remedied if full advantage were taken of the scientific discoveries that have been made in relation to the treatment of coal.

EX-LEADERS OUTLAWED

In a fourth resolution the party called on the national executive to make it impossible for those Labor men who were responsible for the formation of the National Government to return to the Labor Party.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 7.—Drawing a new breath of life from a stiff north wind, a forest fire flared early to-day in the Pumpkin Ridge district, about thirty miles west of Portland, and imperilled the Red Cross tent colony sheltering families whose homes in the district already had fallen before the flames.

The new blaze was an offspring of the fire that wiped out the mill town of Cochran three days ago. It spread through timber and land untouched by its parent blaze. It came suddenly as fire fighters throughout western Oregon and southwestern Washington hoped cooler weather and greater humidity had checked the fires.

The other blazes in western Washington and Oregon were reported under control.

THE DEFENCE

The defence, briefly, was that Dr. Seldon had successfully reduced the dislocation, and that the hip had become dislocated again a month or more later, after Mrs. Plowright had returned to her home.

WOMEN FAINTED

When the jury returned at 9.45 yesterday evening the courtroom was packed to the doors. The trial attracted large crowds and numbers were turned away or stood in the corridor. The audience included many doctors and nurses. Several women fainted and were removed to a waiting room, where they were revived.

There was a death-like stillness when Registrar W. H. Allen inquired whether the jury had reached a verdict, and after the foreman had announced the result, a perceptible "booh" was heard from a woman in the audience.

"I move for a dismissal on the verdict of the jury," said Mr. Sloan.

Mr. Farris, who had conducted the case throughout for the defence, was not gowned, but was present to hear the result.

C. H. Locke, leading counsel for the plaintiffs, informed the judge he had nothing to say with regard to Mr. Sloan's motion.

"There will be judgment for the defendant in accordance with the finding of the jury," announced the judge. "The action is dismissed with costs."

FIRST TRIAL

It has been a "cause celebre" for Vancouver's medical fraternity, and the case developed marked difference of opinion between Vancouver surgeons and three surgical authorities the plaintiffs called from Victoria. The latter were: Dr. H. E. Ridewood, Dr. Cyril Wace and Dr. R. H. Wiggins.

A commissionaire was on duty throughout the second trial and provincial police constables were called in to assist in handling the crowd. So as to gain admission, some were on hand as early as 8 a.m. and, in order that they would not lose their seats, many went without their lunches.

Mr. Farris addressed the jury from 10.40 yesterday forenoon till 1 in the afternoon. Mr. Locke followed him in the afternoon in an address nearly as long.

The question for the jury to decide was whether the injury was due to want of a reasonable degree of care and skill of the defendant, said Mr. Justice Fisher in the course of an hour's address.

The jury retired at 5.20 p.m. and court adjourned shortly after 6 o'clock till 7.30.

Two alternative charges of negligence were preferred against Dr. Seldon by Mr. Locke. He was negligent, according to the counsel, because he did not reduce the hip; and, secondly, he was negligent for not having found out that he had not made a successful reduction. As a result, Mrs. Plowright was crippled for life, said Mr. Locke.

"I presume he was competent, but he was careless," he told the jury.

"BLOCK INCIDENT"

The defendant had been negligent if he converted a dorsal dislocation into an obturator one, he said. The experts could not show how a redislocation was possible, he contended. After discovering Mrs. Plowright had an obturator dislocation, Dr. Seldon, according to Mr. Locke's contention, had virtually admitted it was his fault.

Discussing points which had developed against Dr. Seldon, the plaintiff's counsel stated the defendant had admitted changing the operating report six months after the operation. When sued, the defendant, Mr. Locke asserted, but the blame for Mrs. Plowright's damage on Dr. Hugh McMillan and Dr. Hugh McMillan, who performed the open reduction operation in April. The allegations against the McMillans remained on the record, he explained. Not a word was said about the charges, and although they had been abandoned, they were not withdrawn, he said.

The next point, according to counsel, was that Dr. Seldon had tried to prevent Dr. R. H. Wiggins giving evidence. Dr. Wiggins, he said, had been pilloried for coming here and daring to tell of his conversation with the defendant.

SURGEON'S OPINIONS

Dr. Seldon then had magnified the extent of Mrs. Plowright's injuries so as to get favorable medical opinions, said counsel. The next step taken by Dr. Seldon in defence, he said, was to produce Dr. L. H. Webster at this trial.

"He just missed it," was Mr. Locke's description of Dr. Seldon's reduction operation, "when the head of the high bone was manipulated into the hip socket. I assume he was in a hurry to get away; it was New Year's Day.

"We have heard so much about cotyloids and acetabulums that we are apt to forget poor Mrs. Plowright," he said. He reminded the jurors they were dealing with facts, not theory.

If Dr. Seldon had taken an X-ray after the reduction operation or had paid attention to Mrs. Plowright's complaints, he would not be facing a lawsuit, he said.

New Lumber Markets For B.C. Are Sought

of this province, according to statements of lumbermen to-day. The party, comprising H. J. Mackin, chairman; J. G. Robson, C. Grinnell and F. R. Pendleton, left yesterday for England.

LOW GRADE LUMBER

While there is every prospect the higher grade cuts can be absorbed, there is still the problem of disposing of low-grade lumber to replace the United States market which was shut off by increased duties.

Millmen are now looking to the prairies to dispose of a large quantity of this output.

"Prairie shipments have been next to nothing for the last two or three years, and while we do not look for an immediate movement in that direction, nevertheless by spring they should be in a position to buy heavily," one lumberman stated to-day.

"The big crop this year will undoubtedly improve the farmers' financial position and enable him to make repairs and construct buildings which have been delayed due to financial pressure," he added.

MANY CARS NEEDED

Normally, the prairies have taken one-quarter of the average cut of the mills of this province of 2,500,000,000 feet annually, mostly in low grade materials, and thousands of cars will be needed to restore depleted stocks of lumber yards as well as provide for immediate requirements.

With the granting by the Dominion of a subsidy for the Chinese trade and exchange advantages, the visit of Major L. R. Andrews to the Orient is expected to result in immediate benefits. That is an exceptionally good market for low grades, and an almost immediate response is anticipated.

Results of the Imperial Conference are being watched, although it will be some time before benefits are felt, lumbermen state. New markets in South Africa, Northern Rhodesia, Irish Free State and India have been acquired, and satisfactory preferences were obtained.

Yorkton, Sask., Oct. 7.—Convicted of stealing $9,248 from city funds, F. J. Pilkington, former city treasurer, was sentenced by Mr. Justice H. V. Bigelow to-day to eighteen months imprisonment.

A largely-signed petition accompanied by a plea for mercy was entered on behalf of Pilkington, who was employed in the city treasury for the last twenty years.

JURY FREES MODEL PUPIL

Canadian Press

TRADE TREATIES OUT OCTOBER 1

Canadian Press

Ottawa Oct. 7.—Imperial Conference trade agreements will be the main business of the fall part of the session, Premier Bennett told the Commons this afternoon.

The Canada-United Kingdom trade agreement would appear in the press of both countries on the morning of October 13 under arrangement between the two governments, he declared. Approval of that agreement as well as agreements with Southern Rhodesia, the Irish Free State and South Africa would be followed with a tariff measure to be introduced by the Minister of Finance bringing the tariff changes into effect the day after the resolution was brought in.

Los Angeles, Oct. 7.—Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, evangelist, was confined to the Hollywood Hospital to-day with a blood infection in the arm after an operation for carbuncles.

B.C. Association Elects Rev. E. Paul of Vancouver Its President

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—Rev. Elbert Paul, B.A., youthful and energetic pastor of the First Baptist Church, Vancouver, was elected president of the British Columbia Prohibition Association when the nomination slate was adopted at the convention in the First Baptist Church here yesterday.

A request that the government make provision for a plebiscite on the sale of beer by the glass at the provincial elections was strongly upheld by the delegates. The liquor board was assailed in the report for extending the hour of sale in the beer parlors till 11.30 p.m. in Vancouver. Suggestion that the beer parlor operations be restricted to eight hours daily was made.

The convention protested against the present policy of the government, which it was declared "facilitated and encouraged the sale of beer in licensed premises. Protest was also endorsed against "establishment of any place for sale of liquor in close proximity to the frontier of the United States."

CONFERENCE URGED

Canton, China, Oct. 7 (Associated Press).—Tong Shao-yi, once Premier of China and now allied with the independent government of southwest China, to-day said the Lytton Commission's report on Manchuria was "self-contradictory and worse than useless." He advocated abandonment of hope by China in the League of Nations and urged the government to seek a conference of signatories of the Nine-power Treaty instead.

MAN KILLED BY DETECTIVE

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(Associated Press)—Three hundred persons slugged and beat two policemen in a disturbance at a food relief station here yesterday and dispersed only after Detective John Fried had shot one of them above the heart, wounding him fatally. Fried fired three times as he lay on the ground, with several persons beating and kicking at him. Joseph Bosab was rushed to a hospital, but died an hour later. The policemen's injuries were not serious, it was stated to-day.

YOUTH SENTENCED

Prince Albert, Sask., Oct. 7.—(Canadian Press) — Peter Dowlenko, eighteen-year-old school boy, was sentenced to two years with hard labor when he pleaded guilty in court here yesterday to having attempted to murder Olga Wasley, teacher at Blaine Lake. Dowlenko seriously wounded the young woman when he fired two shots through a window of the teacher's house after it was alleged she had refused his attentions. Miss Wasley recovered.

THREE-LEGGED FROG

Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 7.—(Canadian Press)—John Scott, digging a trench in his lawn on Finkle Street to-day, had to uproot a tree that had stood for fifty or sixty years. NEAR BEER BILL

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 7 (Associated Press).—The Albama Legislature yesterday killed Governor Miller's veto and repeated a seventeen-year-old law that made illegal anything that looks, smells or tastes like beer. The governor called the bill, which legalizes near beer, an entering wedge of "destructive force" into the state's dry laws.

JUDGE SUFFERS MEMORY LOSS

Judge J. N. Fish of Saskatchewan Found in Clinton, Ontario

Canadian Press

Clinton, Ont., Oct. 7.—Missing since September 15 and suffering from loss of memory, J. N. Fish, district judge at Weyburn, Sask., and brother-in-law of Hon. W. L. Walsh, Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta, was located in a Clinton hotel, and yesterday was taken by a cousin to Hamilton, Ont.

On Tuesday Mr. Fish drove into Clinton alone and registered at a hotel. He is about seventy years old and his actions attracted attention. Police were communicated with. Questioned, Mr. Fish insisted he was from Weyburn, Ontario.

Dr. Shaw was called in and found the man to be suffering from amnesia. Crown Attorney Holmes telegraphed to Weyburn, Sask., and received a wire from Sheriff W. K. Kelly to the effect Judge Fish had been missing since September 15 and his relatives were anxious about him. He had summered at Orangeville, Ont., and had started on his way back to the west on September 15 and had not been seen since.

ROOSEVELT NOW RULES TAMMANY

J. J. Walker Will Not Be Candidate For Mayor of New York

Canadian Press

New York, Oct. 7.—The Tammany tiger, which casts quite a shadow on the United States political map, would seem to be eating out of the hand Franklin D. Roosevelt hopes will guide the federal government after the November 8 election.

Two clear-cut events of the last week lead to this conclusion. A section of Tammany Hall, New York City political organization which controls a goodly portion of the state's voting strength, sought at the party's Albany convention to defeat the governorship ambitions of Lieutenant-Governor Herbert Lehman. Mr. Roosevelt approved Lehman and the cantankerous conventioneers were finally headed into line.

As New York City Democrats met yesterday evening to name a mayoralty candidate, political seers predicted ex-mayor "Jimmy" Walker would be given the opportunity of a vindication at the election November 8.

Roosevelt was against the return of Walker and once again he had his way.

FARM PLANS

Mr. Roosevelt was nowhere near the New York convention that took his cue. He was, in fact, at Albany, telling the nation's voters the farm tariff and other policies of President Hoover were leading the United States to disaster and reiterating his liberal view the government must regulate business when business fails to regulate itself.

At Washington President Hoover considered the advice of the high priests of his campaign that he undertake a major speaking tour, particularly in the west, where a large portion of the nation's farms and industries are centred.

Seven labor leaders of the building trades, claiming representation of 1,000,000 workers, gladdened Republicans' hearts with a call at the White House to tell the President "we are appreciative of what you have done."

FARM GROUPS PICKET ROADS

Associated Press

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 7.—Another protracted siege of several midwestern cities was apparent to-day in the farm strike for higher prices.

Sioux Falls, S.D., was the centre of anti-marketing activities as several hundred farmers established semi-permanent picket stations on thirteen highways. They began their strike blockade yesterday and succeeded to a point that only a few truckers attempted, unsuccessfully, to enter the city.

Persons close to the Chicago milk situation alluded to the possibility that Cook County, Illinois, racketeers, seeking to control the Chicago Milk Drivers' Union, had bombed the plant of the Burlington, Wis., Co-operative Milk Association, as part of a campaign of intimidation.

At Granite Falls, Minn., charges of manslaughter in the third degree were filed against Ole Anderson and his son, Leonard, nineteen, in connection with the shooting Tuesday evening of Nordahl Peterson, twenty-five-year-old Canby, Minn., farmer, at a picket station.

Farmers near Dayton, Minn., prepared to-day to enforce a strike edict after having stopped several trucks yesterday and allowing them to proceed after warnings had been given against repetition of shipping attempts.

TURKISH POLICE REPEL BANDITS

Associated Press

Istanbul, Turkey, Oct. 7.—Turkish gendarmes engaged recently in a sharp encounter near Ourfa with a band of brigands from the Gazveci tribe which had penetrated Turkey from Syria. Eleven bandits were killed, twenty were wounded and many captured.

GOLD PROFITS OFF

San Francisco, Oct. 7 (Canadian Press.)—Alaska Juneau Gold Mining Company reported an estimated profit of $445,000 for the nine months ended September 30, compared with $1,263,850 for the same period in 1931. The figures were before deducation for taxes and depreciation.

In a dispute over an emergency staircase at St. Anne's School, Liverpool, England, 500 pupils were "locked out" recently.

COMPLAINED OF TARDY AUDITS

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 7—Complaints of delays in receiving audits of the University of Manitoba finances were made more than eleven years ago by certain governors of the university, it is revealed in records kept by the sceretary.

The records are being studied by counsel for the board of inquiry investigating the loss of $1,000,000 endowment funds incurred while under control of the honorary bursar, J. A. Machray, K.C., who is serving a sentence of seven years in the penitentiary for theft of $500,000 from the institution. The board adjourned last Friday and will resume its hearing next Tuesday.

The audits complained of in the minutes were made by officers from the Manitoba comptroller-general's office. One entry in the book shows a report was made to the finance committee regarding the audits and a suggestion of a quarterly audit was made.

REPORT LATE

The 1919-20 auditors' report, which should, according to the University Act, have been in the hands of the government on or before the first of November, 1920, was not completed until March 2, 1921.

The minutes further disclose that in 1920 Machray, senior partner of the investment firm of Machray and Sharpe, through whose accounts all investment funds of the university were handled, sold $75,000 worth of bonds on his own initiative, the board afterward ratifying the sale. At the same time the bursar had under his control $200,000 worth of bonds and was given authority to sell these securities at his discretion.

WILLS MONEY FOR EMIGRANTS

Late Lady Cathcart Leaves Novel Bequest; Gifts to Royalty

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 7.—Probate yesterday of the will of Lady Cathcart of Cluny Castle, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, who died in August, showed she had left all her land holdings in western Canada to Alexander McNeill of Wiarton, Ont., or, failing him, to his son, Malcolm.

The will also directs the trustees to sell her estates in the Hebrides and in Inverness-shire and to set aside proceeds in the form of an "emigration fund" to assist those tenants of the estates who wish to emigrate from the United Kingdom. The assistance would take the form of loans at a low rate of interest.

Other bequests include a marble statuette of cupid and a green jade vase to Queen Mary "in grateful acknowledgement of her great kindness' and £5,000 to Princess Helen Victoria, cousin of the King, in gratitude for "many kindnesses."

Wiarton, Ont., Oct. 7.—Alexander McNeill of this town, to whom Lady Cathcart of Cluny Castle, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, bequeathed all her land holdings in western Canada, died here last April and his son, Malcolm M. McNeill, will inherit the land as provided in Lady Cathcart's will.

The land, it was learned, comprises 2,400 acres near Regina.

Lady Cathcart, who died in August at the age of eighty-seven, was a cousin of the late Alexander McNeill and was reputed to be one of the largest landowners in Scotland.

MAN SENT TO PRISON FOR LIFE

Harrisburg, Ark., Oct. 7.—Herman Ledbetter, thirty-one, farmer, found guilty of beating his two-year-old son to death with a piece of harness, yesterday was sentenced to spend his life in the penitentiary.

Ledbetter brought the body of the child home from a ride in the woods September 21, and said he had been killed in a fall from a wagon. Later he admitted he had whipped the child "lightly with a check rein," but reiterated it had died from the fall.

IMPORTANT MEASURES ARE BEFORE CANADA'S PARLIAMENT

The session of Parliament which opened yesterday at Ottawa will be of an unusually momentous character. Practically every item of business mentioned in the Speech from the Throne is of major importance to the Canadian people and all of them will be productive of lively controversy.

Until Mr. Bennett has made his statement in the House this afternoon it will not be known what business will be dealt with during the first part of the session and what will be deferred until the second part which will begin early in the New Year. Parliament has been summoned earlier in order that matters requiring immediate attention, such, for example, as the ratification of the agreements entered into at the recent Imperial Economic Conference, may be disposed of.

These agreements unquestionably will be endorsed by Parliament, but not until they have been considered very carefully, not only for their possible effect upon Canada's trade with the rest of the empire but also for their effect upon Canada's trade with the fifty foreign countries with which she does nearly seventy per cent of her business. It is fitting to mention here, indeed, that for the twelve months ending last July this Dominion's trade with the rest of the British countries amounted in value to a little more than $340,000,000, compared with our total trade with the United States alone for the same period of $503,000,000, notwithstanding the Fordney-McCumber, Hawley-Smoot, and other United States tariff legislation.

This is not to suggest that substantial benefit may not arise from the treaties Parliament will be asked to ratify. It should be possible for Canada to do more business with the rest of the empire if Candian exporters adopt aggressive methods of salesmanship. But the very nature of the agreements demand that they be carefully scrutinized. Even some of Mr. Bennett's high protectionist friends are displaying apprehension that their share of the Canadian market is imperilled in respect of some of the preferences that have been extended.

Of paramount importance in the legislative programme will be the redistribution of seats in the House of Commons which the British North America Act decrees shall be carried out after every ten-year census. The Prime Minister proposes to introduce the bill on Monday. What happened in the British Columbia Legislature early this year reminds us of the controversial nature of a redistribution measure. The party in power invariably keeps its weather eye open to any advantage which it thinks it may gain in the process.

Every ten years also the Canadian Banking Act has to be amended. The Speech from the Throne, however, indicates that the charters of the Canadian banks will be extended for one year in view of the forthcoming World Economic and Financial Conference which is expected to be held in London in the near future. However, as the United States has declared emphatically that the tariff, reparations, and war debts, must be strictly taboo at this conference it is difficult to see how the results of that deliberation will very materially affect the banking system of Canada. In any event, when the time comes to deal with the matter the government will hear Mr. Mackenzie King's proposal for the establishment of a Central Bank and arguments in favor of credit control.

The report of the Duff Commission on Transportation is to be followed up with legislation which, in the language of the Speech from the Throne, is "designed to ensure more effective and economical operation of Canadian railways upon the basis of fair competition, secured in such manner as will avoid extravagant and harmful duplication of services." Consideration of this highly important subject is almost sure to go over to the second part of the session. While the commission's report declares emphatically in favor of coordination, and not of amalgamation, the leader of the opposition and his colleagues, recognizing that the people of the Dominion will not stand for any bedevilment of the national system, will have to be reckoned with when that legislation is before the House. Revision of the capital structure of the national road, not specifically recommended by the commission, is certain to figure in the debate. It was expected that the writing down of a capital of $2,600,000,000 to something like $1,600,000,000 would be called for; but the suggestion was merely advanced by the commission that the matter be considered.

"The problem of unemployment continues to receive the anxious attention of my ministers," says the Speech from the Throne in its reference to one of the country's gravest disabilities. The tragic feature of this "anxious attention" is that after two years of office—office gained by the promise to end unemployment—the government still is without any organized programme for dealing with it. At the last two sessions of Parliament, Mr. Mackenzie King has urged the establishment of a national impartial council which could advise the government. But his suggestion has been ignored, and now the government has virtually thrown up its hands and proposes to give out direct relief, which is the dole in its fullest sense.

The St. Lawrence Waterway treaty has been signed by Canada and the United States, and we are told in the Speech that after it has been ratified by the neighboring republic, it will be submitted to the Canadian Parliament for its endorsement. Opponents of the undertaking in the United States and Canada are putting up a stubborn fight against it, and as it is a "Hoover baby" as far as the neighboring republic is concerned, the treaty's fate at the hands of Congress is highly problematical. Canada, on the other hand, needs the funds that would have to be diverted for this project for more pressing domestic needs.

In view of the matters to which the Speech from the Throne refers, therefore, as already said, the session which commenced yesterday bids fair to be long and hectic.

THINGS MAY BE BRIGHTER "IN THE SWEET BYE-AND-BYE"

Premier Tolmie told the Conservative Association yesterday evening that his government had assumed office "at the birth of the greatest economic depression in modern times, worse in its economic and other effects than the war-time period had been and utterly unpredictable at the time as to the length and depth it would assume." This does not square with the facts. When the Tolmie government assumed office in 1928 conditions were extremely prosperous. It was not until October, 1929, that the collapse began, while the general economic situation on this continent did not become acute till late in 1930.

There was no indication of hard times in the first budget of Dr. Tolmie's government early in 1929, while the budget of 1930 provided for expenditures which made the former administration's total look cheap. There certainly was no suggestion of depression in the heavy increases in all of the government services, particularly in the jump in the outlay of the Public Works Department, of nearly seven millions of dollars in two years. If the government was conscious of a depression when it expended more than $30,000,000 in 1930-1931, it must have been out of its head. It is only in recent times that the government has given any indication that economic conditions are not as roseate as they were in its first two years of office. This is quite apparent from its own record.

Likewise, the Premier's recital of his union government adventure must be confusing even to some of his own followers. He declares "that the time has come for some sort of union in British Columbia," yet he defers further steps in that direction until next year. Even the steps he took were hopelessly compromised from the first by his refusal to leave the question of leadership open when he invited Mr. Pattullo and Mr. Bowser to participate. He must have known that in such circumstances his proposal would be declined. Apart from all this, if his government has been as successful as he says it has been, why change the form of government at all? His following comprises seventy-five per cent of the membership of the Legislature; he can do anything he wants to do in the way of policy. The opposition's power is limited to criticism; it can not vote any of his measures down. Why, then, a union government, especially if his own government has been so competent to administer efficiently the affairs of the country?

The local Conservative Association has approved of the Premier's union government gesture. Was that because it failed, or because the Association thought it was good political tactics? The public, which is not concerned with tactics, must be rather confused by Dr. Tolmie's declarations, almost all in one breath, that present conditions require a union government, that any further move in that direction has been postponed until next year, and that, anyway, his government has been successful in administering the affairs of the province, each contention obviously being in direct conflict with the others.

Likewise, it is not easy to reconcile Mr. Beatty's tributes to the successful leadership of the Premier with his sharp criticism of the ministry in certain important aspects at one of the party meetings a short time ago. The Premier is responsible for his cabinet and must accept that responsibility. He appointed it in 1928 and has maintained it. Its record is his record. Its shortcomings are his shortcomings. He admits it is too large and should be reduced, but he does not propose to reduce it until next year—when he will be constitutionally required to go to the country. It will be one of Dr. Tolmie's misfortunes that he will have to answer to the electors for not only his own individual record but the record of the ministry he called into being.

GLORY OF A DUB
The Toronto Telegram

The major point of interest to Canadians in connection with the United States amateur golf championship play is the magnificent record of accomplishment set up by "Sandy" Somerville, as a representative of the Dominion. No true golfer, acquainted with the part fate can play in the game, however, will be inclined to deny William McIntire, of the Pine Valley Club, such glory as may accrue to him for providing the best story (and alibi) of the encounter.

With just an outside chance of entering the charmed circle of qualified players, Mr. McIntire was shooting close to par at the sixth hole, according to the account provided by friends who vouch for his veracity. Then came a great drive and a chance to reach the green. The ball was found in a beautiful lie (golf terminology, not the language of the street), and he prepared to try for the green and birdie.

As he completed his downswing the ball gradually disappeared in a hole and he missed. It had been resting on the back of a toad which was unable to view Mr. McIntire as any William Tell of golf, disapproved his mighty swipe and sought a safer place under ground. It cost the golfer ten strokes to dig out, and all chances of qualifying were lost.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

Of squatting and squatters—of Indians and moccasins—of a fine old tradition which should be preserved—of Professor Sandwell's discovery—and of an injustice to the movies.

By H. B. W.

LORD IRWIN, formerly viceroy of India, recently said that if he were to squat on the floor of a government building at New Delhi like Mr. Gandhi and refuse food, then Mr. Gandhi's entire civil disobedience movement would collapse, for such demonstrations are the language that India understands. Much as the end of the civil disobedience movement is to be desired, I hope that Lord Irwin will refuse to squat. I mean it would be such a dangerous precedent. You would soon have statesmen squatting all over the place to halt every kind of movement. Mind you, I think it would be good for western statesmen to squat. It would help them to lose some old avoirdupois and gain some new thoughts, whereas the process of statecraft at present is exactly the reverse of that. And it would afford a rather gorgeous spectacle.

* * *

VISUALIZE, IF YOU CAN, the cold stone steps of our own Parliament Buildings with row on row of eminent squatters, some squatting in the sacred cause of wrecking the government and others preventing at all costs the election of the wretched opposition. Such a spectacle might even revive interest in politics which is low now because our state, not so wise as the Romans, is failing to provide enough wine and circuses. Still, I don't really expect Lord Irwin will do it. I don't expect our statesmen will do it. No current statesmen of the western world whom I have heard of would squat on the floor, like Mr. Gandhi, for an abstract principle. Not one of them would be willing to starve to death for an abstract principle. I have known very few personally who would lose an election for an abstract principle. So I don't really expect that you will see anything more interesting Across the Bay than the dying maple trees and the balanced budget.

* * *

CALGARY, I NOTICE by the papers, is getting ashamed of its wild west traditions. The Herald is demanding that in future no more distinguished visitors shall be taken out on the banks of the Bow River, dressed in feathers and made chiefs of the Blackfeet. Such spectacles, says The Herald, have become too common until now, it seems, almost everybody who passes through Calgary and who can spare the time to stop on the Bow for a few minutes, goes through life a blood brother of the noble savage. Next time you pass through Calgary you had better stay in your pullman or you may find yourself wearing a war bonnet.

* * *

ALL THIS, THE people of Calgary are beginning to fear, is making the world imagine that Calgary is still a frontier village where the inhabitants go about in moccasins and blankets. Calgary's pride in its modern improvements, its hotels, parks and oil boom is hurt. It is going to keep its Indians safely back on the reservation, like poor relations, so that they won't put feathers on any more distinguished visitors.

* * *

NOW THIS IS a terrible mistake. It is not only a mistake for Calgary, which will lose a valuable tourist asset and a pleasant folklore, but it is a symptom of a disease which is sweeping all over America. That is the disease of uniformity. We all want to be modern cities, not so much for the sake of being modern as to be like other cities. Every hamlet in America tries to be a New York in miniature, mostly because its inhabitants have never been in New York and don't know anything of its horrors. Calgary is ashamed of its Indians not because they are Indians and wear feathers, but because there are no Indians in Montreal or Vancouver. It is a fatal tendency and in the end will make a world of such absolute uniformity, such unbearable standardization that men with any soul at all will have to go back to the wilderness and become Indians with the dishonored Blackfeet to escape it.

* * *

ANY CITY WHICH has a small remnant of its original character, any curious customs and old traditions to distinguish it from other places, should grapple these things to it with hooks of steel. Calgary should have only pity for its western neighbors which can boast of nothing that other cities haven't got in equal or greater quantity. As The Province points out very gloomily, Vancouver has nothing at all to distinguish it as the Indians distinguish Calgary. It is like a prosperous household which has no single piece of furniture unlike that of the next house on the street, or all the houses on the street, which is enough to kill the decent feelings of any family.

* * *

WELL, WE ARE not much better in Victoria. We have no Indians left. We can't make visitors into chiefs without so much trouble in mustering the remnants of the early tribes that is really too much trouble, and the remnants really don't know what it is about. The best we can do for visitors is to take them out to Esquimalt to sample our British Columbia beer, and it never seems to impress them. They say they can get just as good beer at home, which may possibly be true. And yet there is a remnant of our early history still here a living tradition of the frontier, and a surviving race of Early Victorians which still lives on, despite every effort to crush it out. We should preserve it at all costs and not thrust it into the background like the Indians of Calgary. And any oddities of dress or manner which it possesses should not be the subject of ribald jest, but should be protected as a sacred heritage. Better still, we should transmit these traditions to our young if we can. Let us dare to be different. Let us breed a race which will not fear to wear plus fours and prickly tweeds to business every day, which will speak with a broad Victorian a, as broad as Yates Street, which will play its golf defiantly and drink its afternoon tea like true frontiersmen.

* * *

A PROFESSOR OF McGill University, Mr. B. K. Sandwell, has lately discovered a great truth which was well known to me long ago. But the discovery is valuable nevertheless, because somebody may listen to the professor, whereas no one listens to me. Well, Professor Sandwell, coming to the defence of the movies, has discovered that censorship is producing the very results which it seeks to avoid. He says he used to think that the average movie audience was of pretty low intelligence, a notion still widely held by snooty persons; but since he has been studying the operations of censorship and the reactions of the public, he has come to the conclusion that the movie fan has developed if not intelligence, then a curious cunning and a powerful faculty of imagination. For he finds, what I have long realized, that when the censors delete a portion of the film, or when the movie directors themselves leave out whole scenes, the well-trained theatre-goers fill in the spaces automatically in their own minds without the slightest difficulty and without any inconvenience whatever.

* * *

THUS, HE ARGUES, the movies can leave out everything dangerous to the young but the young, seasoned and trained by long experience, will put it all in for themselves. "After all," says the professor, "if the printers were to decide next week that the letter e was improper and were to start printing all words without it th- int-llig-nt r-ad-r would -xp-ri-nc-v-ry litti- troubl- in filling up th- blanks, and would n-v-r mak- th- -rror of supposing that a-x was in-t-nd-d to m-an half a doz-n." This is sound but the facts go further. Not only do the movie audiences supply the missing vowels but they put in half a dozen hard consonants to boot. Where the movie scenes may fade out into a complete blank they supply such grisly imaginings as the most callous director never thought of. And by an accurate mathematical process, the more that the movies leave out the more the public will put in. The movies get blamed for many faults which exist mostly in the public mind. If reform is needed it should be started on the street, not the screen.

THANKSGIVING DAY BEE

To the Editor:—As there have been several reports, some of which are slightly misleading with regard to the "bee" which is being held at the Mount View High School, Carey Road, on Monday next, I would ask you to kindly publish this letter as it might be of interest to many of your Saanich subscribers.

The object of the "bee" is to make a start on clearing up the grounds and the Parent-teacher Association are hoping to get the support of all who are anxious to see this very necessary work commenced. We are all inclined to criticize our council and school board, so for a change let us get down and help them. Members of both bodies give many days and nights to our "problem." Surely some of us can give one day to ease their burdens a little, and what could be more appropriate than doing this on Thanksgiving Day, for in spite of all our troubles we still have lots to be thankful for.

The work will be under proper supervision and tools will be provided, so

RECRUITS IN BACK-TO-LAND MOVEMENT

Here is a group of those who are availing themselves of the opportunity presented to the unemployed by the government to take up farms in the Province of Quebec. They have gone to Ville Marie, Temiskaming. Seen in front of the settlers among others, front centre, are Leo Leblanc, C. Ladue Norwood, district superintendent of colonization, C.P.R.; J. E. Legault, traveling colonization agent, C.P.R., and J. D. Marcotte, director of the back-to-land movement and members of the committee. This is the first of several groups that will go north to settle on the land. Father J. E. Moreau will be there to meet them on arrival, and will look after their spiritual as well as physical comfort and well-being. Community houses will probably be built to accommodate them at first, until they can get their community organized and build individual homes for themselves. Each family in the group will have about 100 acres of land.

PUBLIC LAND SCHEME URGED

Canadian Press

Leicester, Eng., Oct. 7.—Proceeding with its mapping out of a socialistic state, the annual convention formulating the policy of the Labor Party of British yesterday declared for public land ownership and national agricultural planning.

A resolution carried by the conference called for bringing all agricultural land under national ownership, and establishment of a national agricultural commission which should plan orderly development in agricultural and promote co-operative public farming.

Another resolution demanded establishment of national commodity boards empowered to purchase and regulate imports and control prices.

LITTLE THEATRE GROUP MEETS

Major Bullock-Webster Gives Many Welcome Suggestions

The first meeting of the Victoria Little Theatre Association in its new clubrooms on Rockland Avenue was marked by the presence of Major Bullock-Webster, who, as the first of what the association hopes to make a series of guest speakers, gave an interesting and entertaining talk on his own experiences in the theatre and made many helpful and welcome suggestions.

The new clubrooms which are on the property of old St. George's School, are a splendid place for meetings, and, as there is a very good stage, it is the plan of the Little Theatre Association to put on their programmes of three one-act plays for associate members there this season in true "Little Theatre" fashion.

Owing to the inability of H. Creelman to continue in the office of president, it has been necessary to elect someone to take his place. As the office of secretary was also open, election of these two officers was held at the first meeting of the season. H. S. Hurn is now president and Dan McDonald secretary.

The first play of the season will be "Dulcy," a clever comedy by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly. Leslie Lamb has been chosen as director and the play is now being cast and will be produced sometime around December 1, the exact date to be announced very soon.

There will be two public performances this year and the one private performance at the clubrooms for associate members only. As the price of associate members' tickets has been lowered considerably, it is hoped that all who were associates last year, and many more, will join this season. This is the fourth season of the Little Theatre in Victoria, and the association is confident that it will continue to grow as it has done in the past, and firmly establish itself as a definitely recognized source of entertainment to all Victorians interested in the theatre.

GRASS FIRES ARE NUMEROUS

Heat Causes Several Small Outbreaks in City and Vicinity

Four grass fires in the city and a blaze of some extent in the Cordova Bay area broke out yesterday evening after the day's heat.

In the city there were small grass fires at Cook Street and Dallas Road, on Cedar Hill Road, near Hillside Avenue, on Burdette Avenue, and Francis Avenue.

These fires followed each other between 9 and 9.30 o'clock, and firemen are investigating the possibility of incendiarism in this connection.

At 11 o'clock yesterday evening a roof fire broke out at 859 North Park Street, and firemen battled for an hour to save the house. The flames were confined to the roof. A chimney fire on Vining Street also required attendance of one truck.

Two vases bearing the royal arms of Portugal, which were in the late King Manuel's residence in England, were bequeathed under his will to King George of England as a testimony of "deep gratitude for his many kindnesses."

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW TO-MORROW

Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson and Mayor Leeming Will Officiate at Shrine Hall

Expect Keen Competition For Banksian Medal of Royal Horticultural Society

The Victoria Horticultural Society's second annual chrysanthemum show will be held in the Shrine Hall tomorrow. Doors will be opened at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and the formal ceremony will be conducted by Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson at 2.30 o'clock.

Mayor Leeming, honorary president of the society, will also officiate. Entries already received by the secretary assures a wealth of bloom, nearly all of the eighty-six classes being well represented. Patrons visiting the exhibition will see the newer varieties of many fall flowers. In addition to the competitive entries a number of commercial displays and those from private gardens will be arranged.

Judging by the late entries there is likely to be very keen competition for the Banksian Medal, given by the Royal Horticultural Society to the exhibitor securing most points at the show. It is considered a great honor to become the possessor of such an award. In addition to the floral display a popular feature, particularly among the members, is the potato competition. Upwards of forty members have entered. Unbelievable amounts have been reported from the one pound of seed supplied in the spring.

These will be judged by H. S. McLeod, inspector from the federal Department of Agriculture. George Robinson, W. J. Sheppard, W. Darling and A. Green will undertake the placing of awards on the floral entries.

The show is for one day only, and will close with an auction of exhibits shortly after 9 o'clock in the evening.

You don't need MAGIC to get MONEY from your Coal Bin . . .

IT's no trick to save as much as $29 to $40.50 . . . simply by using Vancouver Island coals exclusively!

Official figures show that Nanaimo-Wellington and Comox coal contain as high as 30% more heat value than imported lignite coal offered for sale here.

This simply means that where you might use eight tons of coal a year (and the average family does) . . . you would have to buy only six tons of Vancouver Island coal to get the same amount of heat . . . a saving of $20 to $24 a year.

And that's not all! Nanaimo-Wellington and Comox coals cost from $1.50 to $2.75 less per ton than competing brands. So you save from $9.00 to $16.50 on the six tons you buy, making a total saving of from $29 to $40.50.

There's another important advantage in using these local fuels. Each dollar you spend for Vancouver Island coal stays in British Columbia . . . you get several chances at the same money!

HALF-BILLION FOR U.S. RELIEF

Despite Business Upturn Unemployed Total Still Over 10,000,000

$150,000,000 More Needed Than Year Ago

Washington, Oct. 7.—The one unfortunate feature of the recent business upturn is the impression created in many minds that the unemployment situation in United States this winter will be improved rather than more serious.

All informed persons agree that American cities are approaching what will be by all odds the most severe and dangerous winter of the depression—a winter which is more likely to see an increase than a decrease in unemployment and which is certain in any event to bring an unprecedented amount of suffering and unrest unless unprecedentedly drastic measures are taken for relief.

Latest government figures on the trend of employment indicate nothing except that 100,000 or more men and women have obtained jobs again at a time when a gain is normally expected, leaving somewhere around 10,000,000 persons still unemployed and a prospect that their ranks will be swelled before the winter is over.

For every 100 workers employed in manufacturing in September, 1929, only about fifty-six were at work, on full time or part time, in August, 1932. The decrease of 44 per cent from normal employment has been accompanied by a reduction of 63 per cent in wages paid to factory workers, which represents fewer working days and pay cuts for the individual.

FEWER EMPLOYED TO-DAY

The most impressive statistics in so far as the coming winter is concerned are those that show that where 71.2 wage earners were at work a year ago in United States, only fifty-six are employed to-day. In other words, more than 20 per cent have been dropped from manufacturing payrolls within the year.

Since the increase of employment was only half of 1 per cent for all industrial groups inAugust and wage earnings decreased 1 per cent, it is likely that employment would have shown a further drop had it not been for the "spread of work" movement.

The almost continual drop in employment only partly indicates the probable extent of distress in which the third winter of the slump is expected to find hundreds of thousands of families, heretofore able to hang on without public or private aid but now with their savings exhausted.

Food riots and other unemployment demonstrations—including marches to Washington—are regarded as almost inevitable.

HIGHER FOR 1933

The National Citizens Committee of the Welfare and Relief Mobilization of 1932, headed by Newton D. Baker, must combat both a widespread ignorance of the extent of unemployment and distress and an impression that the situation has been more or less adequately met by the $300,000,000 which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has been authorized to lend to states for relief purposes.

The $300,000,000 is being lent only to those states and communities which have exhausted their own means. Public and private relief for 1932 is estimated roughly at $500,000,000 as against about $350,000,000 last year. Estimates for 1933 run up to between $750,000,000 and $1,000,000,000. Baker says the R.F.C. loans can't possibly account for more than half of the increased need.

About 70 per cent of last year's relief came from public funds. Wealthy men who have been holding out against charity contributions are being told that relief money will be taken out of them in increased taxation if they don't kick in.

ASIA TREK DESCRIBED

Rotarians Hear About Motor Car Journey Across Vast Continent

Mrs. H. M. Archibald, Sister of Expedition Leader, Gives Details

Details of the journey of the French motorcar caravans across Asia, started in April of 1931 and completed in February of 1932, under the auspices of Citroen, famous French car manufacturer, were told members of the Rotary Club by Mrs. H. M. Archibald, sister of one of the leading members of the expedition, at the club's luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mrs. Archibald sketched the hardships endured by the eastward expedition which proceeded from Asia Minor through to the other side of the Himalayas and the westward bound group which started at Peking.

The 8,000-mile trek across Asia was an international endeavor, Mrs. Archibald said. She remarked upon the isolation of that country from western civilization. Alexander the Great was the first westerner to penetrate Asia, reaching India. Marco Polo was the next great westerner to go into Asia successfully. Since then many other expeditions had gone in, but their findings were fragmentary, she said.

Henri Citroen, the French Henry Ford, had organized the most recent expedition to Asia. It had taken four years of preparation, with the assistance of British, United States and Chinese authorities.

SPECIALLY CONSTRUCTED

For his ventures, M. Citroen had provided two special types of autos, including heavy caterpillar cars and lighter machines. These were admirably equipped with the latest scientific devices for the expedition's use, including moving picture machines, electrical equipment and all manner of implements. The comfort of the members was cared for in every war compatible with the exigencies of space.

She traced the route of the eastbound caravan from Arabia, through Syria and Persia. In Afghanistan, Nadir Shah showed the expedition every courtesy. In that region important archaeological information was secured.

Proceeding, the expedition reached Khyber Pass, where the British gave the travelers every assistance. Continuing to the country of Kashmir they again found warm welcome and hospitality. There they rested for the arduous task of surmounting the barrier of the Himalayas.

DISMANTLE CARS

It was necessary to abandon five of the cars and continue with but two. Soon they found the car guage too wide for the bridle paths which they had to follow. Many times coolies, loaned by the British, had to push the cars, which were finally dismantled and packed in pieces by the horses and coolies. Later they struck snow five feet deep. It took them five days to cover twenty miles.

As they progressed the road became worse. At a small fort deep in the Himalayas they found the other expedition coming in from China had been taken prisoner by a Chinese war lord. Eventually the westward group reached the plateau behind the mountains.

WESTWARD CARAVAN

Mrs. Archibald turned to the other expedition which found tremendous difficulty in overcoming the suspicion of the Chinese.

The expedition had continued on to Chinese Turkestan where it was held by a warlord who claimed the use of their cars for war purposes.

A piece of strategy by one of the mechanics got a radio message through to Peking. It was relayed to Paris and the French government ordered the release of the imprisoned group.

Briefly she sketched the meeting of the two expeditions and their return.

The effort had not been futile, she said. It had opened the way for motor transportation in Asia. In the future, she remarked, with the progress of road building, it might be as easy to cross Asia by car as it was to motor all over this continent.

George McGregor, president, thanked Mrs. Archibald for her entertaining and instructive address. The speaker was introduced by P. B. Scurrah, chairman of the programme committee.

ROUND TABLE MAKES PLANS

Plans for future meetings of the Round Table Club were discussed at an opening meeting of that organization in the Empress Hotel on Tuesday. Alderman W. T. Straith, president, welcomed the members back from their summer vacation and referred to several outings held by the club in the last two or three months.

Dr. D. W. Graham and Major M. Kirkpatrick Crocket displayed a number of pictures and slides taken at some outings and announced more would be displayed at a future gathering.

This winter it is hoped to have a series of lectures for the entertainment and instruction of the clubmen.

TRUSTEES GIVE PROBLEM FACTS

Ward Four Saanich Ratepayers Hear of Married-teacher Affair

The Ward Four Saanich Ratepayers' Association Wednesday evening at Marigold Hall, with R. A. Scott presiding, heard an explanation by Trustees W. Tomes and A. E. Hull of the reasons why the Saanich School Board had permitted a teacher to marry and retain her position on the staff. The trustees informed the meeting that a long-standing resolution against employment of teachers whose husbands were able to support them had not been rescinded. Immediately after supporting a teacher retaining her position after marrying another teacher, Trustee Thorpe had moved for dismissal of a married teacher long on the staff, the meeting was told. The proceedings had taken place after the press and public had been excluded, the trustees stated, Trustee Tomes expressing a desire to know how the information had become public.

Asked to suggest ways whereby the schools system could be operated at lower cost, Trustee Tomes declared that only reduction of teachers' salaries offered any opportunity to lessen taxes. He hoped the new provincial schedule would offer a maximum much below that at present in effect.

RELIEF WORK COST

Councillor W. R. Wood discussed road maintenance in the ward and reviewed the relief employment system. The council had appropriated $15,000 for the year, but was certain to exceed $20,000. There were over 300 men on relief work in Saanich, and the gross cost in September had been $8,900, of which Saanich had paid more than $2,000.

A report upon the negotiations between the council and the Victoria Library Commission was presented and endorsed by Councillor Woods. The meeting was anxious to see resumption of library service in the municipality, but tabled the matter in view of the financial situation.

Shrubs and Trees Are Advantageous

W. H. Warren, superintendent of city parks, in an address before the Victoria Horticultural Society on Tuesday evening told of the advantages of using shrubs and trees in the decoration of city grounds. He outlined the various methods used to-day in landscape gardening and enumerated the various trees and shrubs that are being used to a great extent.

E. M. Whyte was the originator of a motion to change the constitution of the society so that the annual meeting would be held in January and thereby have the society's year conform with the calendar year. The motion was adopted.

H. Whiteoak, president of the society, announced that W. J. Sheppard and himself as judges had reached their decisions in regard to the garden award for the year. The prizes were as follows: 1, Mrs. A. Abbott, 221 Quebec Street, 275 points; 2, Mrs. E. Pell, 2268 Cadboro Bay Road, 252 points; 3, T. R. Bell, 2605 Dalhousie Street, 250 points.

GLOBE-TROTTING MOTHER AND DAUGHTER

Travel has proved more than a pastime for the Dan Sweeney family. The artist and his wife started globe-trotting ten years ago in order that their daughter, Peggy, then only six, might have a really world-wide education. As a result, she studied geography, history, languages, art and music in a score of different countries, and early began to collect native costumes, jewelry and examples of handicraft in the places they visited. That collection now is valued at $150,000, and mother and daughter here are pictured as they arrived in New York the other day after gathering additional treasures of the Inca and pre-Inca civilization in Peru. Mrs. Sweeney is a lecturer and her daughter's collection has been widely exhibited in the United States.

Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary's Appeal Draws Many Guests to Beach Drive Home This Afternoon; Attractive Musical Programme Is Greatly Enjoyed; Lovely Floral Decorations

Any appeal for the Y.M.C.A. is always assured of generous response from the citizens of Victoria and when that appeal is allied with such a delightful function as was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. C. Pendray, Beach Drive, the response is even more readily forthcomnig. Sponsored by the energetic little band of women who comprise the auxiliary to the "Y" and who, in season and out of season, carry on a valuable if non-spectacular work for the organization, the affair was one of the most successful of its kind, both from the social and financial standpoints.

LOVELY FLOWERS

The lovely hues of autumn were artistically utilized by the hostess in the floral decoration of the reception rooms, masses of scarlet and gold maple leaves, together with chrysanthemums in the reddish-bronze shades, lending a colorful not-of-welcome to the entrance hall, where Mrs. Pendray received the guests, assisted by Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, president of the auxiliary. In the drawing-room and sun-room Michaelmas daisies, chrysanthemums, gladioli and a wealth of other autumn flowers were used with charming effect.

Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mrs. Fred M. McGregor and Mrs. Walter E. Staneland ushered the many guests into the dining-room, where the beautifully-appointed tea table, with its centrepiece of pink sweet peas and maidenhair fern and its lighted pink tapers in silver candelabra, was presided over in turn by Mrs. Pendray Sr., Mrs. Angus Campbell, Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, Mrs. David Leeming, Mrs. G. A. Bucklin, Mrs. J. O. Cameron and Mrs. J. S. Plaskett. In charge of the refreshments were Mrs. A. S. Locke, Mrs. A. J. Watson, Mrs. F. C. Mawhinney and Mrs. A. H. MacLachlan, while the serving of the guests was in the capable hands of Mrs. Edwin Tomlin, Mrs. Walter Tuck, Mrs. G. H. Stevens, Mrs. L. A. Gane, Mrs. Vincent and Miss Phyllis Pendray. Mrs. Donald McAdie, Mrs. Angus McKeown and Mrs. M. Raynor were at the receipt of customs.

DELIGHTFUL MUSIC

The pleasure of the afternoon was much enhanced by the musical programme featuring, songs beautifully rendered by Mrs. Reta Ormiston McNeill, whose numbers included Lancon Ronald's "Sylvan" and "Garden Thoughts" (Homer Samuels), and Mrs. Harry Lasenby, who contributed "Thoughts Have Wings" (Liza Lehmann) and "Who Knows?" (Ernest Ball). Miss Evelyn Harper played several piano solos, and Mrs. Paul Green lent her usual artistic support as accompanist for the vocalists. Both singers and pianist responded generously to insistent demands for encores.

During the afternoon Mrs. J. O Cameron expressed to the hostess the deep appreciation of the auxiliary for her generous hospitality. Beautiful little corsage bouquets were also presented by the auxiliary to Mrs. Pendray and to the singers and pianists, in recognition of their valuable contribution to the enjoyment of the afternoon.

Central W.C.T.U. Disapproves Part Of Kidd Report

Emphatic disapproval of "that portion of the Kidd report which advocates the speeding-up of intoxication" was expressed by the Central W.C.T.U at its meeting held in the Y.W.C.A. yesterday afternoon. The members also decided to send a letter of appreciation to Dr. G. M. Weir on his stand against any proposal to facilitate the sale of liquor.

Mrs. R. E. Collis, the president, gave an address on "Thanksgiving," and also gave the Scripture reading, which was followed by prayer by Mrs. E. A. Mitchell.

It was announced that the fifth scientific temperance contest for Sunday school pupils would commence on Sunday next.

Plans were made for a silver tea at the home of Mrs. William Grant, 304 Bay Street, on Thursday afternoon, October 20, at 3 o'clock, when Mrs. Nellie McClung will be the guest of honor.

The members considered a resolution, sponsored by the City Temple ladies, expressing disapproval of the government's action in separating Doukhobor mothers from their nursing babies, but no action was taken on the matter.

WARMLY GREET I.O.D.E. PARTY

Provincial Chapter Delegates Enjoy Visit to Trail and Nelson

Mrs. P. E. Corby, secretary of the Provincial Chapter I.O.D.E., returned to Victoria yesterday from Vancouver, where she has been visiting friends since Monday, after attending the semi-annual meeting of the chapter held at Trail last week. Mrs. Curtis Sampson, provincial president, who presided at the sessions in Trail, and Mrs. Corby were the guests of the provincial councillors of Vancouver at tea in the Hotel Georgia on Monday, and while in the mainland city visited the Preventorium, in which the Vancouver chapters are interested. Mrs. Sampson returned to Victoria on Tuesday morning.

The delegates from Vancouver Island were accorded a most cordial and hospitable welcome in the interior city, the Arthur Chapman Chapter of Trail arranging for the delegates to vist the smelter, Mrs. Sampson receiving a delightful souvenir of the visit in the shape of a beautiful silver pin tray, made of silver mined in British Columbia, and smelted, made and engraved in Trail, while the other delegates each received two ash trays of polished lead, also made in Trail. Mrs. Bingay entertained at her home in honor of the visitors from the Coast.

While in the Kootenay district the delegates visited Nelson, where they were the guests of the Kokanee Chapter at a delightfully appointed luncheon at the Hume Hotel. En route they visited the Doukhobor colony and saw the grave where Peter Veregin lies buried. Mrs. Sampson placed wreaths from the Provincial Chapter on the war memorials at Trail and Nelson.

Members of the order in the interior cities were most appreciative of the Provincial Chapter's action in holding its semi-annual meeting at Trail, the deliberations imparting stimulus to the work in this part of the country.

Cathedral A.Y.P.A.—Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A. held a short business meeting Wednesday evening in the guild room of the Memorial Hall. Miss Dorothy Boughton was elected to be the branch representative on the local council. P. W. Rawson Jr. and Frank Johnson were chozen to uphold the honor of the branch on the local sports committee. Until further notice, the debating club will discontinue to hold any meetings. All members are asked to attend the meeting next week as the Dean will give a short lecture on the "Oxford Group Movement."

Glorifying Yourself

By ALICIA HART

CAREFUL GROOMING DELAYS ARRIVAL OF GRAY HAIR

Hair was never meant to be dyed. Somehow or other, the face has a habit of softening with the hair, and as its color goes, the general ensemble of the features rallies to meet it. The thing to do, of course, is to keep your hair so healthy, so glowing, so lubricated with air and sunshine and general cleanliness that its color will linger.

But when its shade whitens, do not worry. Toss your head higher and make the most of the silver lights that are coming.

Hair has a tendency to gray when it lacks oil. Oil retains color. Therefore, the thing to do is to use some special preparation—and there are several—which supplies the needed oil. Learn to massage your scalp. Rotate your scalp with the tips of your fingers. Be sure that you are moving the scalp and not your hands. One lesson from an expert will prove invaluable. She will tell you what to do and what not to do.

Shampoo your hair—but not too often. Instead, brush it faithfully with long, sweeping strokes, always up and out, forming as much of a circle as possible, with the hair, as you turn it around the long bristles of your brush. Make the bristles penetrate through to your scalp. The blood supply is encouraged to flow. This rejuvenates hair.

If you follow these simple methods your color will settle down to stay with you for a longer period. When it does go, don't worry. Make sure that your hair is shining and soft and you will know that it is going to act as some sort of a fitting crown for your features.

There are color effects that are far lovelier with white hair than with dark or blond hair. Soft pinks, violets, and rose shades will make you as lovely as any lady from the days when candles gave the only light for colonial parties. At that time, people powdered their hair. No one was old at all. Keep your eyes shining, your complexion smooth—and if your hair turns white tell yourself that you are going to have a chance to try out some new arts in feminine beauty.

The regular business meeting of St. Luke's Anglican Young People's Association was held last Tuesday evening with A. Heathcote in the chair. The feature of the evening was the ceremony in which the following were initiated into the association: Misses K. Riley, E. Lytton, U. Richardson and P. Hooper. Next Tuesday evening Stanley Hawkins will be the guest of the association.

The report of Municipal Chapter was given and the educational secretary, Mrs. E. C. Hayward, gave an interesting report of the bursary holders for the current year. The chapter decided to take fifty calendars for distribution in the schools and for sale among the members.

The gift of a library of young people's books to the industrial school at Alert Bay was gratefully acknowledged in a letter from the secretary of the Columbia Coast Mission of the Columbia W.A. Board, Mrs. Philip expressing appreciation of the gift, which will be of great value to the school. The books were provided by an early member of the chapter and comprised over forty volumes. The regent reported having presented two prizes to pupils in the Sir James Douglas School, Robin Warren and Thelma Hopkins being the recipients of the prizes of $5 each.

HER FAT WAS A BURDEN

Now She Is Quite Slender

Here is another case where the trim, slim figure of youth has displaced the coarse, fat outline of middle-age. It is a housekeeper writing. She says:

"I cannot say what weight I was, but I was very fat—a burden to myself. I have taken three bottles of Kruschen Salts and now I am quite slender. I am turned 56 and people take me for 40. I am more than proud of myself. You can take it from me that every word of this is true. I took a teaspoonful in hot water every morning till I used three bottles. Now I only take half a teaspoonful each morning. I cannot recommend the Kruschen Salts enough, for they are worth their weight in gold."—(Mrs.) A.H.

For generations, wealthy over-weight people have been visiting those European Spas whose waters are recognized for their reducing effect. It is called "taking the cure." Now the formula of Kruschen represents the ingredient salts of the mineral waters from those far-famed Spas. These Salts combat the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue. (Advt.)

CHAPTER PLANS BRIDGE-BAZAAR

The October meeting of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held on Tuesday evening in the Municipal rooms, with an attendance of twenty-five members. Mrs. H. G. Bolt, regent, presided. Miss Pearl Barbour has kindly consented to act as secretary until the annual meeting, as Miss Tressie Gilliland has been forced, through illness, to resign from this position. Miss Grace Carter, a new member, was welcomed into the chapter by Mrs. Bolt.

Welfare work was discussed, various cases being reported in need of assistance, and these will be investigated and attended to. Plans for the bazaar and bridge to be given by this chapter on Saturday afternoon and evening November 5, at the New Thought Hall, were described. Many lovely articles, including fancy work of all kinds, hand-knitted baby clothes, bridge novelties, etc., which will be on sale at the bazaar, were displayed at the meeting, and the members were enthusiastic at the preparations already made to make this bazaar a great success. The articles made by the blind will also be on sale, and the blind friends of the chapter are invited to attend the bazaar as the guests of the Robert Burns McMicking Chapter.

During the afternoon a delightful programme, arranged by Miss Marjorie Watson, will entertain the guests. Tea will be served, convened by Miss Winnie Warburton, assisted by Miss Eileen McPherson, and teacup reading will be an added attraction. In the evening bridge will be played, and anyone wishing to reserve tables is asked to get in touch with Miss Helen Bolt, E 0837. A special meeting for the conveners of the various committees for the bazaar and bridge will be held in the near future.

The November meeting will be held at the Municipal rooms on Tuesday evening, November 1, at 8 o'clock. All members are particularly requested to remember this meeting, as it will be the final meeting before the bazaar and bridge.

WOMEN TO BE CHURCH ELDERS

United General Council Approves of Their Admission, After Hearing Woman

Canadian Press

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 7.—Women may now serve as elders of the United Church of Canada. The General Council voted on the matter to-day.

The General Council was competent to deal with the admission of women to the eldership, the law and legislation committee declared.

Mrs. A. M. Scott, Calgary, then moved to amend the manual of the church to permit women to act as elders. Mrs. Scott made a strong plea for the equal status of her sex in the eldership and carried the council with her.

The church will continue to call its Moderator "right reverend" and the past moderator "very reverend."

The committee report, presented by Douglas Thom, K.C., Regina, was adopted.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

NUT DISHES MAKE SAVORY MENUS

By SISTER MARY

Yesterday we considered the food value of nuts, so to-day a few recipes featuring nuts may be welcome.

There are innumerable ways in which nuts may be used to add interest to other foods. Combined with vegetables, they make substantial main dishes. Added to salads and desserts, they do much to increase the nourishment of these courses. In bread, they are a valuable agent toward amending the protein deficiencies of the grains. Many an otherwise commonplace dish is enlivened by the addition of a few nut meats. Consequently it pays to have some shelled nuts always on hand for emergencies.

When the meat course is light, this nut pudding will add many calories of food value to the meal.

NUT PUDDING

One-half cup brown sugar, ¼ teaspoon soda, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon butter, 4 teaspoons cornstarch, 1 cup chopped nut meats, ⅛ cup whipping cream.

Melt sugar over a low fire with a very little milk. Dissolve soda in 1 teaspoon warm water and stir into sugar. Add milk and butter and bring to the boiling point. Stir in cornstarch to a smooth paste with a few tablespoons cold milk. Stir and cook until thick and smooth. Remove from fire and stir in nuts. Chill and serve with cream whipped and lightly sweetened and flavored with vanilla.

NUT CROQUETTES

Three-fourths cup milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, ¾ cup chopped nut meats, ¾ cup soft bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ tablespoon minced parsley, 1 egg, dried bread crumbs.

Melt butter in saucepan, stir in flour and when bubbling add milk, stirring constantly. Cook and stir until mixture boils. Add nuts, bread crumbs, salt and parsley, and mix thoroughly. Spread on a buttered platter to cool. Shape in small balls, roll in dried bread crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten, and roll again in crumbs. Fry in hot deep fat until a golden brown and serve with tomato sauce.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Father Wood, chaplain of the league. In the evening at 8 o'clock in St. Ann's Auditorium there will be a general meeting to hear the reports of various subdivisions, the national president's address, and special addresses by Bishop Murray and Rev. Father Daly, who is at present a guest at the Bishop's Palace.

SUBDIVISION REPORTS

Announcement of this agenda, coupled with an invitation to all members to attend the convention, was made by Mrs. W. Nominations for officers for Monday's election, were also called for.

O'Neill reported the correspondence for the month. Regret was expressed at the death of Mrs. Muldoon, a valued member, and sympathy was sent the members of the family. Miss H. O'Brien, reporting for social service, told of several persons having been assisted in various ways both in the city and outlying districts. Miss Pemberton was welcomed as a new member of the subdivision. Mrs. McLernan distributed copies of The Canadian League, the official organ.

BAZAAR PLANS

Mrs. Blair Reid announced a military five hundred and bridge party in the K. of C. Hall on Wednesday evening, October 12, in aid of St. Louis College and under the direction of the Welfare Association. The president suggested a series of telephone bridge parties during the interval until the bazaar. Many members offered their homes for parties, and any others who would care to help in this pleasant way are asked to telephone Mrs. McManus for further particulars.

The dates for the annual three days' bazaar have been set for December 1, 2 and 3 at the old St. Ann's Kindergarten, Blanshard Street. Mrs. Scaling will convene the fancy work and plain sewing, assisted by Mrs. McWade, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Doyle, Mrs. Kissinger and Mrs. Burns. Unless the deficit to run them is met by interested organizations eight shortline railroads in Spain are to be discontinued by the government.

C.G.I.T. Leaders' Council Elects Year's Officers

The first meeting of the C.G.I.T. Leaders' Council was held yesterday at the Y.W.C.A. with a record attendance. General business and reports were heard. The election of officers took place with the following results: President, Miss Beall; vice-president, Mrs. Freeman; secretary-treasurer, Miss Jean Menzies; corresponding secretary, Mrs. E. McIntyre; sponser, girls' council, Miss Parfitt.

Deep appreciation of the work of Miss Mossop and Mrs. Bock among the Oriental groups was voiced; also regret that they had to give up the work. A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mrs. Freeman and Miss Parfitt for their work during the year.

The main feature of the evening was a short address by Rev. Bruce Grey, president of the Local Religious Education Council, on "Beginning Again." He stressed the great need of prayer in beginning anything, and how great organizations had sprung from small beginnings. Mr. Grey then led in a short worship service, after which refreshments were served.

Tells How She Gained Exquisite Skin Loveliness

Worked From Inside With Carter's Little Liver Pills

Pure blood, not mere artificial surface treatment, is the sure way to beauty. The great pity is that more people do not realize this, as Miss E. T. did. She has taken time to write her experience. "I find (she declares) that Carter's Little Liver Pills will do more to keep the complexion clear and the skin free from blemishes than all the face creams I have used. I found the real cause of face blemishes was usually due to liver and stomach troubles." Vegetables are a valuable aid to health; and Dr. Carter's Little Liver Pills are PURELY VEGETABLE. No calomel. Love Unlocks The Door

By ANNIE S. SWAN

CHAPTER IV

They took a car outside the shop door, and were quickly conveyed to within a few minutes' walk of their destination, which was Sinclair Street, Stockbridge. There in one of the old Free Church schools, which Gilbert Horne, of the Bonnygate Works, had bought and presented to the mission, they came upon a very animated scene.

Lily, who had never seen anything like it before, stood still in wonderment just inside the door, while her aunt, well known there, and always welcome, pushed her way forward to the platform, where stood an immense Christmas tree laden with good things. The hall was full of children in their best suits, in white frocks and fine pinafores, drinking tea out of tin mugs, and with bags of buns on the desks in front of them. A goodly sprinkling of young ladies were flitting about with bright tin kettles in their hands, replenishing the cups and keeping the children in order. But they were a very noisy, as well as a happy crew. Lily Morison's eyes wandered quickly across the throng, missing the face she had come to see, but presently she saw her aunt talking to Miss Horne, up close to the Christmas tree, for which Miss Oliphant had brought sundry articles carefully wrapped in brown paper. Nobody paid any attention to Lily, who stood, rather disconsolately, by the door, until someone touched her arm. She gave a start, and immediately saw by her side a girl about her own age, dressed in black with a little toque of white fur perched back among her curly brown hair, and a very sweet face, somewhat flushed with the exersions of the evening, beamed upon her.

"Won't you sit down or come and help?" she said quickly. "I must shut the door, I'm afraid, because we can't take any more in from outside."

"Oh, I'm sorry. I didn't notice I had left the door open."

"It doesn't matter at all for a few moments; I daresay the rush of cold air is what we need. You came with Miss Oliphant, didn't you?"

"Yes, she's my aunt," replied Lily with pardonable pride, for quite evidently Auntie Bell was at home there, and greatly beloved. Miss Horne had her hand through her arm, her beautiful face eager and animated as if it were something of great importance.

"Who is that talking to my aunt?" she asked, though she knew quite well.

"That's Miss Biddy Horne. She has just lately come to the mission, and it's been a different place since. She's so good and delightful, you can't think."

"She looks it. I really think she is the loveliest woman I have ever seen," said Lily involuntarily.

Her companion smiled, well pleased.

"We all think that, and she is as good and dear as she is lovely. Come up, and I'll introduce you. But I must introduce myself first. My name's Elsie Gerard."

"Oh, thank you," said Lily a trifle confused, yet determined not to lose the chance. "Mine is Morison, Lily Morison; my mother was Miss Oliphant's sister."

"I see. Well, let's go up. Perhaps you'll come to the mission too. We never have enough of helpers for the ordinary week-day work. I have a good deal to do at home myself, but I come as often as I can. I love it so. There's Miss Horne coming this way. Biddy, come here a moment."

Arrested by the clear call from the passage, Biddy Horne stopped in her work of filling an empty bag with more buns and came down to them.

"This is Miss Oliphant's niece, Miss Morison. She came with her. I've just been telling her how we need new helpers. I'll leave you to tell her how splendid Miss Oliphant is."

Biddy franky held out her hand, but Lily Morison did not deeply interest her. She had the languid, insipid look of the indifferent looker-on, but her face had something pathetic about it which somehow touched her warm heart.

Biddy herself was the picture, nay the embodiment, of life, and health, and energy. Her rich coloring, a little accentuated by the warm atmosphere of the room, had never seemed more brilliant, while her big beautiful Irish eyes seemed able to read the very soul.

"I should just think Miss Oliphant is splendid; in fact, she's the heart and soul of this mission, and keeps us all right. Do you live in Edinburgh? How is it you have never come to us before?"

There was a slight imperiousness in her voice which reminded Lily, afar off, of the masterful voice she had heard that afternoon.

"Aunt has often asked me. I don't know why I didn't before. I didn't think I'd like it."

"We don't like it at first," replied Miss Horne confidentially. "But it grows on one. I think it's the most splendid work in the world brightening up the children's lives a bit, and helping the mothers as we go along. But without Miss Oliphant we should make all sorts of mistakes. She's the pilot, the captain, the final court of appeal— why, everything, and we all adore her. Won't you take off your jacket, and help pour out the tea? Some of us have been at it getting ready the best part of the day, and of course we're a tiny bit tired now. There, take my kettle and I'll get another one."

And before she knew where she was, Lily found herself going up one form and down another filling up the teacups, and subject to all sorts of remarks from the children, who were always critical of newcomers. It was the ambition of every child present to be served either by Miss Horne or Miss Gerard, who shared the honors almost equally.

"Who's that lighting the candles on the tree?" Lily asked when her first friend came round to her after a time. Elsie turned her head in the direction of the platform, where a tall and very aristocratic-looking young lady, with a somewhat grave proud face, was putting the finishing touches to the tree.

"That's another of our workers—Miss Inglis from Moray Place—but she doesn't come very often. This is a special occasion."

Lily Moriston turned as pale as death.

"Is she the daughter of Lord Kilmartin?"

"Yes," answered Elsie, all unconscious of the tragedy she was helping to advance. "Now, we're all ready, only waiting for Mr. Horne; he's to give the prizes, and say a few words to the children, I believe. There he is. I've never met him myself yet, though he gave this school to the mission. You see, I haven't been coming here long."

Lily Morison put her hand to her heart, and turned her face with strange expectancy to the door. A grey-haired, fine-looking man entered first, followed by a younger one, Gilbert Horne, attracted to a place, in which he could not naurally have the smallest interest, by the fact that the woman he loved was taking part. Not Lily Morison; oh, no, she was the last woman he expected or desired to meet in such circumstances.

It was a few moments before he did see her, and then she had recovered her composure. She sat down quietly at the end of a seat by the side of a little boy in a red comforter, to whom she even bent to speak a few smiling words. It was a strange, even a ghastly situation, and she marvelled at her own calmness, nay, after a fashion she enjoyed it, and determined to see it out. The dull resentment which had followed upon the disappointment of the afternoon would have a little revenge; if there was any truth in the newspaper paragraph, then the moment when Gilbert Horne should see her, Lily Morison, under the same roof with the girl he was reported to be going to marry, would be a terrible one for him.

It was a little time before he saw her, partly because she was sitting rather far back, and the children would insist on standing up to view the platform better. They were still very noisy, but Miss Oliphant with a comprehensive wave of her arm and a commanding shout got their attention, and quieted them for a moment.

"Now, bairns, be quiet if ye can, an' if ye canna, you'll pretty quick find yourselfs outside the door. Ye'll no like that, for the tree will be left inside, mind that. Weel, I'm no gaun to speechify ye, I only want ye to gie three roosin' cheers for your very best friend in the worl', Mr. Horne, an syne for ye to sit quate as mice till he gies ye a word. After that if ye behave yoursel's maybe you'll get something aff the tree."

She stepped back amid deafening applause, and Mr. Horne, smiling as if he thoroughly enjoyed the affair, stepped forward. The cheering immediately became still more deafening, and it was some minutes before it was stilled sufficiently for him to speak. He was a tall, fine-looking man, remarkably youthful for his years, with a pleasant, even a handsome face, and a suggestion of power which surprised no one who knew what Gilbert Horne's life and work in the city of Edinburgh had been. He was the very best type any city can produce, a self-made man, whose mind and heart had expanded with his success, and with all his ability, which had placed him in the very front rank alike of commercial and civic life, he had never felt more thoroughly at home than at the present moment. He loved children, and could always find the fitting word to arrest their attention.

Lily glanced from him across the hall where Gilbert, his son, had taken his seat, as if by right, by the side of Miss Inglis.

A curious fire burned in her eyes, and her color had heightened until she looked marvelously beautiful. Her aunt watching from the platform noticed the metamorphosis, and decided that it was outside interest of a sympathetic kind that the girl wanted to arouse her. And she determined more than ever to have it out with Morison without delay.

It was a very auspicious occasion, one calling forth all the impulses of human nature and life. Yet how little dreamed those who surveyed the scene with such satisfaction what elements of tragedy were present under that roof, apparently consecrated for the time being entirely to the cause of charity and loving-kindness.

Horoscope

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1932

Unfriendly stars frown upon the planet Earth to-day, according to astrology. It is a day in which both men and women should watch their steps.

Under this sway there may be a sense of restlessness and discontent. Recreation may be exceedingly alluring, but the temptation to be extravagant should be resisted.

Industry to-day is under a direction of the stars making for discontent. Persons who have struggled against the ills of unemployment may be inclined to find fault with work.

The seers warn that the habit of fault-finding may be exceedingly prevalent as a result of recent disturbed economic conditions.

All the signs appear to presage a gradual return to prosperity. Gratitude rather than criticism should be the rule.

There is an aspect that seems to foreshadow many dissensions and discussions among men and women.

Political debates may become bitter under this configuration, which is read as indicating bitterness in the manner of presenting national issues.

Saturn is in a place supposed to be threatening to the export trade of Great Britain. Taxes will continue to be burdensome.

In the new era the rising generation is to prove its great wisdom and wide vision, astrologers forecast.

It is pointed out that through the wrecking of ancient institutions and the destruction of old-time customs real progress is attained and in the new year will be seen the triumphant outcome of many apparent reverses.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of pleasure in which sports prove advantageous. Competition may be brisk in business.

Children born on this day porbably will be intellectual and exceedingly self-respecting. Many subjects of this sign have true literary talents.

John Hay, statesman and writer, was born on this day, 1838. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Edmund Clarence Stedman, 1833, poet, and Marie Van Zandt, 1861, singer.

Colwood

Rev. F. Comley will preach Sunday evening at the harvest Thanksgiving service at St. John's Church at 7 o'clock. Any donations of fruit and vegetables for church decoration will be welcomed by the church committee.

Many tables were in play at the weekly card party held in Colwood Hall on Wednesday evening, the winners being Mrs. S. R. Moore, Mrs. A. Godfrey, Messrs. Hugh Ridley and S. R. Moore.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily And Little Bub

(By HOWARD R. GARIS)

Uncle Wiggily and Bub, the little rainbow boy, had gone to the woods together to look for an adventure. Bub was going to call it his adventure when he found it. For he had started off with a wooden sword to drive away Bad Chaps. Uncle Wiggily had his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch that Nurse Jane had gnawed for him out of a cornstalk.

Uncle Wiggily and Bub climbed up hill and climbed down hill. Once they thought they had an adventure when something crawled in the grass, but it was only an old, big mud turtle. Then Bub saw something in a bush, but Uncle Wiggily said it was only Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boy, for he saw a tail sticking out.

"Well," said Little Bub, as he watched the bush, and held his wooden sword ready, "if it's Jackie Bow Wow why doesn't he come out?"

"I don't know," answered the rabbit gentleman. "I'll ask him. So he called: "Ho, Jackie, come out!"

"Hello! said the little girl

"I'm not Jackie," answered a little voice.

"Who are you then?" Uncle Wiggily wanted to know.

"I'm an adventure," said the voice.

"Hurray!" shouted Little Bub, waving his wooden sword. "I knew I could find an adventure for you, Unkie Wig! Hurray!"

"Well," murmured Mr. Longears, "this is the first time I ever heard an adventure talk. Come on out with your fuzzy tail that looks like Jackie Bow Wow!" called the rabbit.

"What you see isn't a tail!" said the Adventure.

"Then what is it?" asked Bub.

"It's my doll," was the answer. "My doll has fuzzy hair but she has no tail."

With that, out from the bushes came a little girl who looked much like Bub, for she had golden hair, blue eyes and red cheeks. And in one hand the little girl carried a doll with fuzzy, black hair. No wonder Uncle Wiggily thought it was a puppy dog's tail sticking out.

"Hello!" greeted the little girl.

"Hello!" answered Little Bub, smiling.

"Hello," said uncle Wiggily. "Why, Bub," he went on, "I didn't know you had a twin sister."

"I haven't," Bub answered. "This little girl isn't my sister."

"She looks enough like you to be a twin," spoke the rabbit. "What is your name?" he asked the child. "You told me you were an adventure, but that can't be your name."

"No, Adventure isn't my name," was the answer, "but I am looking for an adventure and now I've found it."

"Where?" asked Bub, eagerly.

"There!" said the little girl, pointing to the rainbow boy and the rabbit gentleman. "I think you are two adventures!" and she laughed merrily, tossing her golden curls.

"Well," said Uncle Wiggily, "if Bub and I are two adventures, you must be one adventure. But what is your name?"

"My name," spoke the little girl, "is Little Bab."

"Oh, ho!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "This is quite jolly! Now I have Little Bub and Little Bab, a rainbow boy and a rainbow girl who look like twins. This is a fine adventure!"

"That's what I say!" spoke Bub. "I told you I would find an adventure for you, Unkie Wig."

"And I've found an adventure, too," said Little Bab, laughing again. "Only I wanted an exciting one, with a Bad Chap!"

"Fancy that for a little girl," whispered Uncle Wiggily.

"I'd like an adventure with a Bad Chap, too," said Little Bub. "Did you hear how I pushed the Bob Cat down stairs?" he asked.

"No," answered Little Bab, "I didn't. Tell me about it."

"All right, I will," answered the rainbow boy. "Once upon a time," he began, while Uncle Wiggily listened as did Little Bab and then, all of a sudden, there was a noise in the bushes and a voice growled:

"Who wants to see a Bad Chap?" With that out popped the Fox and out popped the Woozie Wolf.

"Oh! Oh!" laughed Bab, "two Bad Chaps! What a jolly adventure!"

Then the Fox and the Wolf started to nibble Uncle Wiggily, but Bub hit the Wolf with the wooden sword and Bab tickled the Fox with the fuzzy hair of her doll and the two Bad Chaps were so surprised that they ran away and hid in the bushes and that was the end of the adventure.

But if the water pipe will give the coffee pot a match to light the fire under the tea kettle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the cocoanut. It will be a sort of funny story, I hope.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

EARLY WEANING NEEDS SERIOUS CONSIDERATION

When the mother feels that nursing the baby is a boresome and annoying duty she will always find good and sufficient reasons for weaning him. When, on the contrary, the mother is determined to nurse the baby she is almost as sure of being successful at it, for she will hunt for the reasons for a poor breast supply and work to improve it.

GOOD REASONS

There are some valid and legitimate reasons for weaning. One of these is the mother's own illness. Another is an unexpected pregnancy. Other than this, provided the mother has milk at all, the causes for weaning diminish rapidly. Just lack of enough milk to satisfy the baby and cause a good gain is not sufficient excuse. That lack can easily be made up by complementary feedings until such time as the mother learns enough about the technique of nursing to insure an abundant supply.

We offer a leaflet, "Help for the Nursing Mother," that will be invaluable to any mother who is unaware of how to increase the breast supply. Any reader may obtain a copy of it without cost if she will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with her request for it to me in care of this newspaper.

ADVANTAGES

Breast-fed babies have the food nature intended for them. This food is at the right temperature, is available at all times, and its use makes the baby almost immune to communicable diseases. These are vital reasons for making every conceivable effort to provide baby with this precious fluid until he at least has his bearings in this strange world. To wean a baby before the third or fourth month of his life is to subject him to an unnecessary battle with formulas that may, by some miracle, suit his digestion, or may cause him untold distress before the right one is reached.

It remains for the mother to cut down on her social engagements so that they will not interfere with the baby's regular feedings, and most important of all so that she herself may not suffer from fatigue. Rest is so important to the nursing mother that failure to get enough of it may be just the small difference between success and failure in feeding her baby.

THE SACRIFICE PAYS

The tired mother is a nervous mother, and the nervous mother causes the baby to be irritated from her handling. And when her fatigue diminishes the breast supply, she adds another link to baby's chain of audibly expressed discontent. No wonder, under such unhappy circumstances, the mother wants to put all her faith in an unemotional bottle that supplies exactly the same amount of food at every feeding.

One had best philosophically sacrifice another few months in the interest of feeding baby. Find time to rest. Forego tiresome outside duties. Concentrate on feeding the baby regularly so that during those early, treacherous months he may enjoy all the nourishment that only his mother can furnish him.

To-morrow: "Anger Should Be Harnessed to Good Ends."

Langford

The monthly meeting of St. Matthew's Guild was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. D. B. L. Bullen. The members will purchase a new altar cloth and help with decorating the church for the Harvest Festival on October 16. The furnace was reported to have been overhauled, the guild having paid for the necessary parts. A Christmas Gift Sale will be held on Wednesday, December . Members promised aprons and other suitable articles. Tea was served by the hostess.

A meeting of girls of the Women's Auxiliary will be held to-morrow at 7.30 o'clock.

A social was held by the Women's Auxiliary on Tuesday evening at the Canadian Legion Hall and was well attended. A miscellaneous stall was conducted by Mrs. W. A. Walker and Mrs. R. J. CONSERVATIVES ELECT LEADERS

F. A. Willis Named President of Victoria Association at Annual Meeting

J. H. Beatty Only One of Victoria Members Present

Frederick Arthur Willis, Mrs. Mary Jane Roberts, Major Hugh Allan, Robert A. Hiscocks and P. M. Linklater were unanimously elected president, first vice-president, second vice-president, secretary and treasurer respectively of the Victoria Conservative Association at its annual meeting in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

Of the four city members scheduled to attend the meeting, James H. Beatty, M.P.P., was the only one present. The others expressed their disappointment at being absent, Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., and Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe pleading illness, and H. D. Twigg other business of the party.

D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, also expressed regret at his inability to attend.

Five nominations were made for the four offices of representatives to the British Columbia Association. They were Mrs. W. C. Moresby, R. A. Wootton, past president, R. A. Hiscocks, Mrs. Fred Kilsby and Mrs. Lancaster. Without a ballot the latter four were declared elected unanimously.

Only one nomination was made for the posts of representatives on the British Columbia executive, but two were elected. W. C. Winkel was named to represent the men, and Mrs. W. C. Moresby, whose name had not been submitted in the nomination for that particular office, was elected to the other post. Both were declared in office by acclamation.

WARNED AGAINST EXPECTATION

Robert A. Wootton preceding the elections told the gathering not to expect too much from the government and urged loyalty to the King, the country and the Conservative Party. He then presented his annual report as retiring president, commending the officers, committees and membership on their hearty co-operation during the year.

Mr. Hiscocks presented the secretary's report and John L. Clay that of treasurer.

BRITISH COLUMBIA HEAD SPEAKS

Lindley Crease, president of the British Columbia Association, congratulated the Victoria group and newly-elected officers as well as the retiring officials for the work and foresight they had shown. He expressed confidence in the association's ability to remain unanimous. Mr. Crease proceeded with tribute to Premier Bennett for his achievement in the Imperial Economic Conference.

"We are quite aware we have in our leader a great statesman working for the welfare of the province," Mr. Crease said. He noted Premier Tolmie had been in the east furthering British Columbia's lumber interests.

During the war British Columbia had laid aside partizanship. It was up to all to adopt the same attitude in these times of economic stress, he declared, before predicting a slow upturn in conditions. Results of the Ottawa conference were assisting this reconstruction, principally in the lumber business as far as British Columbia was concerned, he said.

NEWFOUNDLAND CROWD RIOTS

Canadian Press

St. Johns, Nfld., Oct. 7.—Rioters at Carbonear yesterday created a disturbance which resulted in injuries to a business man of that place and his son.

Coming into Carbonear from the nearby settlements of Victoria village, Salmon Cove, Ferry's Cove and Flat Rock, the men demanded restoration of former dole rations and when their demands were refused they started rioting.

James Moore Sr. sustained fractures of several ribs, and his son, James Jr., suffered cuts on the head.

The rioters delayed a train by barricading the track and broke some store windows. The train was blocked again at Spaniards' Bay, owing to derailment of a car, and passengers due in St. Johns at 9.30 yesterday evening did not arrive here until 4 o'clock this morning. They reported all was quiet when they left Carbonear.

In spite of many vacancies in Lausanne, Switzerland, a large number of apartments are being erected there.

IN WAKE OF GREAT PORTO RICO HURRICANE

IDENTIFICATION EFFORTS

Edmonton, Oct. 7. — (Canadian Press)—Police to-day were endeavoring to identify the body of an unknown man, found in the Saskatchewan River yesterday with a bullet in the head. Officers believed he waded into the river, shot himself and then dropped dead in the water. Police were searching in the water near the scene where the body was found for the weapon. There were slight powder burns on the temple, indicating suicide.

ROBBERY IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 7. — (Associated Press)—Two holdup men invaded the Fifth Avenue apartment of Saba Kehaye, a Greek banker, yesterday evening and forced him to hand over jewelry valued at between $10,000 and $15,000 under a threat of harming his two children asleep in their bedroom.

IN MEMORIAM

CASSIDY—In loving memory of William, beloved husband of Josephine Cassidy, who passed away October 7, 1931.

In those fair mansions, where you are,
Beyond the sunset's farthest rays;
Beyond the e'en most distant star;
My heart goes out to you, always!
May rest and peace your portion be,
And happiness beyond compare!
Love lasts for all Eternity.
In heaven above! No parting there!
—Inserted by his devoted widow.

Tired Out Both Physically And Mentally? Maybe You Have An Underactive Thyroid Gland

May Also Cause Reduced Weight and Falling Hair

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Of all the glands of internal secretion in the human body more has been learned about the thyroid and its functions than of any other.

The thyroid glands lie in the throat, one portion on each side of the windpipe. The giving of small amounts of the active principle of the thyroid gland raises the activity of the chemical interchanges in the body and for that reason it is much used for encouraging reduction of weight.

In under-activity of the thyroid gland practically all of the excretions and secretions of the body are diminished. There is slow breathing and heart rate, a lack of perspiration and even lessened action of the kidneys and the bowels. The temperature of the body is lowered on account of lessened chemical activity and the blood pressure falls. Both body and mind tend to be sluggish with an absence of thyroid secretion. Such people become easily tired both mentally and physically.

Fortunately, the condition can be overcome by supplying the lack of thyroid secretion either through the giving of thyroid material or of the active principle of this gland, which has been isolated. There are, of course, various degrees of breakdown so that the physician is concerned not only with the complete absence of thyroid secretion, which brings about the type of dwarfism and idiocy seen in cretinism and myxedema; but also lessened degrees with a tendency to accumulation of weight, lack of perspiration, falling of the hair and similar symptoms.

Over-activity of the thyroid gland, however, brings about just the opposite condition. The cells of the body change rapidly and all of the activities speed up, including the activities of the other glands. Therefore, there is a tendency to a higher blood pressure; more rapid pulse and breathing rate; rapid growth in the length of the legs, arms and fingers; and, in fact, a general appearance of elongation. Moderate rise in the temperature, an increased appetite and similar symptoms are associated.

Dr. Walter Timme, in considering these cases, says, "Both mind and body are everlastingly busy. And not only with present problems, but anticipatory of to-morrow's as well. The patient knows no rest or relaxation."

In such patients the skin is constantly moist and quick to react with flushing. The moisture of the skin results sometimes in chilling due to rapid evaporation, sometimes in much dirt and grime on the hands because moist hands collect dirt rapidly.

There are, of course, various types of disease that may affect the thyroid gland, including especially goiters.

VALERA IS TO HEAD DELEGATES

Will Go With Ministers to Irish-British Conference in London

Canadian Press

Dublin, Oct. 7.—The Free State Cabinet yesterday evening announced the personnel of its delegation which will go to London October 14 to attempt settlement of the land annuities dispute.

The delegation will be headed by President Eamon de Valera. Others named were Sean McEntee, Finance Minister; Conor Maquire, Attorney-General, and James Geoghegan, Minister of Justice.

STATEMENT BY THOMAS

Newport, Eng., Oct 7.—Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, emphasized in an address here yesterday evening that the British people wanted peace with the Irish Free State which would establish and ratify the principle of sanctity of agreements.

"The Irish are a lovable, courageous people," Mr. Thomas said, and no matter what the outcome of the present—and, I hope, temporary—differences may be, common sense and common interest alike demand we be friends, not enemies, and our task is to help, not hinder, each other."

The government had followed its course in dealing with its differences with the Free State because it believed in the sanctity of agreements, he continued.

The Dominions Secretary declared he would lose no opportunity to secure peace and would not shut the door to any chance of honorable settlement. He pointed out financial differences between the two countries were bound up with the wider issues in maintaining obligations of the treaty of 1921 and the future relations of the Free State with the British Commonwealth.

DIVERSE APPEAL IN LLOYD FILMS

When "okay" has been written on a Lloyd production, it has run the gamut of audience appeal of every type. The comedian picks no "set-ups" when he trys out his pictures.

For example, "Movie Crazy," with Constance Cummings, which comes Saturday to the Dominion Theatre, was pre-viewed in what motion picture producers are prone to recognize as the two "toughest" spots in the United States—San Diego and Santa Barbara.

CAPITOL THEATRE

By his sneeze ye shall know him! Walter Catlett evolved a wonderful "Katch-choo" in the opening scenes in Columbia's sprightly romantic comedy, "Platinum Blonde," showing to-day at the Capitol Theatre.

The sneeze sent the entire cast into convulsions of laughter for it was accompanied by the marvelous facial contortions for which Catlett is famous. Even Director Frank Capra laughed until the tears rolled down his face—then instructed Catlett not only to continue using the sneeze, but to spring it every time he came on a scene. Now Catlett's sneeze lifts a comparatively small part to an outstanding characterization. Also on the same programme is "Tragedy of Everest."

ROMANO THEATRE

Ken Maynard, who is at the Romano Theatre in his newest picture, Tiffany Pictures' "Sunset Trail," is the typical "jack-of-all-trades." He is a trick rider, a broncho-buster, a lasso-wielder, an accomplished aviator, a remarkable screen actor, and a successful embryo writer! He's everythin', all right! Should he fail at one thing, he can turn to the other. In fact, he has already played in circuses, and has been an engineer.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

The film introduces an unusual problem—that of a young girl deliberately ruining her reputation in a futile attempt to marry the man she loves. Local audiences are warm in their praise of the film. Also being shown on the same programme is "The Cheat."

EMPIRE FILM IS MOVIE CLOSE-UP

"Hollywood Speaks," hailed as a powerful dramatic story giving a close-up of the glamorous life of the movie colony, is the screen feature at the Empire Theatre, beginning to-day.

Genevieve Tobin, who scored such a hit in Maurice Chevalier's "One Hour With You," plays the leading role in this Columbia producjan which shows the rise of a young girl from obscurity to stardom. Pat O'Brien, the breezy young man who appeared to such good advantage in "The Front Page" and other films, has the role of the movie columnist who fights her battles. Lucien Prival, Ralf Harolde, Rita La Roy, Lee Stengel and Anderson Lawlor comprise the rest of an excellent cast.

Of all the pictures dealing with Hollywood, this is said to be the first treating the subject in a realistic and dramatic manner.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Called the "Grand Hotel" among western pictures, Tim McCoy's latest Columbia film, "Cornered," showing to-day at the Columbia Theatre, has a supporting cast such as no other "western" has ever had, with Shirley Grey as the heroine, Niles Welch as the romantic leading man, Noah Beery, Raymond Hatton and Walter Long as the principal heavies, and Claire MacDowell, Lloyd Ingraham and John Eberts as the chief character actors.

"Cornered" was directed by B. Reeves Eason. It was adapted from a published story by William Colt MacDonald. McCoy plays the role of a Wyoming sheriff who suffers disgrace when his prisoner escapes, but redeems himself by proving the man was innocent and bringing the real culprit to justice.

DOMINION THEATRE

"Back Street," now being shown at the Dominion, adapted by Universal from the widely read novel by Fannie Hurst, is the picture, and since the story begins in the year 1900, and progresses to the present day, Miss Dunne's gowns undergo a constant change in style. Many of them, it is said, are gorgeous creations of the dressmakers art, and were designed for Miss Dunne by Lamberth Williams, famous Hollwood stylist. But how many of the stars of to-day would look well in the costumes of yesteryear. Irene Dunne does, and that's one reason she plays this exacting role. "Back Street" begins back in the old prohibition days of 1895 in Cincinnati.

BUDGET BALANCE URGED FOR B.C.

Vital That Cabinet Ministers Realize Spending Must Be Curbed, They Say

British Columbia must balance its budget not only to preserve its government solvency, but the solvency of its industries and private businesses.

This was urged before Premier Tolmie and his ministers late yesterday by a delegation of B.C. business leaders, headed by Major Harold Brown, head of the Union Steamship Company.

The delegation represented the chief groups who had originally sponsored the investigations into provincial affairs by the Kidd committee.

Major Brown and other spokesmen pleaded with the cabinet ministers to cut down on government spending. They urged the ministers to realize that strict economy was absolutely necessary in government affairs if more trouble were to be avoided. They also urged retrenchment along the lines proposed by Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of Finance, to preserve the government's credit.

The delegation also inquired as to how far the government intended to go in implementing the recommendations made in the Kidd report.

On behalf of the business interests of the province, Major Brown asked the premier and cabinet for assurances that the government would bring about further economies in its spending so that total expenditures will be kept within its annual revenue income.

The reply of the cabinet was that the government had already definitely committed itself to the principle of a small cabinet and Legislature, general retrenchment, a cessation of political strife during the depression and the formation of a union government to help bring these things about.

Those who came from Vancouver with Major Brown as representatives of the Vancouver Board of Trade and of the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, included: H. R. McMillan, F. C. Brown, Frank Hoole, J. B. Hodgson, E. G. Baynes, C. C. Brown, J. N. Harvey, G. L. Legate and W. E. Payne. The Vancouver group was joined here by President R. H. B. Ker of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, Edwin Tomlin, J. A. Sayward, F. E. Winslow and Herbert Pendray.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK CAMPAIGN

Will Open To-morrow; Fire Menaces in City Will Be Cleaned Up

Fire Prevention Week, October 9 to 15 inclusive, should receive the attention of every citizen in Victoria.

In every city of Canada and the United States the National Fire Protection Association has members. At present they are collectively active, principally because they realize that an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure. There are individuals in every walk of life in local bodies such as the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary, Gyros, Kiwanis and fraternal organizations who are now busy with their own affairs, but because of the fact that this will be Fire Prevention Week their attention is called to the duties they owe to themselves, their families and the city at large. The Victoria District Fire Agents' Association, which is sponsoring the local campaign, sincerely hopes that they will all assist in this object in order to bring about a clearer and more sanitary city, and remove all fire hazards from their own premises.

FUNERAL SUNDAY

The funeral of Mrs. Chan Chut, who passed away last Sunday at 552 Fisgard Street, will take place on Sunday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The remains will be laid at rest in the Chinese Cemetery.

A.Y.P.A. COUNCIL IN BUSY SESSION

Several important matters were dealt with by the Victoria and District Local Council of the A.Y.P.A. on Thursday evening. S. C. Hawkins informed the meeting that the dominion executive of the A.Y.P.A. had passed a motion endorsing the splendid work being carried on by the Victoria and District Local Council in the matter of selling stamps to raise funds for the Columbia Coast Mission. It was also announced that the Columbia Coast Mission ship Columbia would visit Courtenay on October 12, and that efforts were being made to raise a substantial sum by means of silver teas and lantern slides during the visit.

The retiring treasurer, Brian Green, submitted his report for the last year and was warmly commended for his splendid work in this connection.

A committee was appointed to consider the matter of raising funds for carrying on the general expenses of the council.

Mr. Hawkins reported that Rev. O. L. Jull, secretary of the Diocesan Board of Religious Education, had extended an invitation to the council to appoint one of its members to the Diocesan Board. It was unanimously agreed that Mr. Hawkins fill this position.

Arrangements are being made for a competition among the branches in order to raise the perecentage of attendance at meetings. Miss Holycak, Miss Phillips and Mr. Pite are in charge of this. As there are opportunities for starting a branch of the A.Y.P.A. at Colwood, it was decided that the rector and young people of that district should be informed of the council's willingness to assist them in forming a branch. On October 10 A.Y.P.A. members will hold a communion service in their parish churches. Thanksgiving Day is being observed in similar services throughout the Dominion by all A.Y.P.A. branches.

WARDLE HERE TO EXAMINE PARKS

Ottawa Official Again Reaches Coast in Connection With National Parks

The question of creating a new national park area on Vancouver Island is expected to be revived with the arrival in the city to-day of J. M. Wardle of the federal parks department, Ottawa.

When Mr. Wardle was last in Victoria an agitation was on for the establishment of a national park area on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, and the question was also raised with the idea of incorporating as a park the Forbidden Plateau territory.

Mr. Wardle was sent out here at that time to make an examination of the possibilities of the suggested park areas and spent some time in the Alberni and Courtenay districts. He also looked into the matter of establishing a park on the southern mainland of British Columbia.

Since his arrival here to-day Mr. Wardle has met a number of government officials. He is registered at the Empress Hotel and expects to be in the city for several days.

Many generous donations were received at the annual pound party of the Children's Aid Home yesterday, over 200 visitors showing their interest in the work of the institution by calling and leaving welcome gifts of cash, provisions and various supplies, including several frocks, the gifts of the Women's Workroom.

H. L. Butteris, the president, welcomed the visitors, assisted by H. T. Ravenhill, the treasurer, and the following members of the ladies' committee: Mrs. W. H. Radbourne, Mrs. Sidney Childs, Miss E. Neelands, and Mrs. Bissell, the secretary, who was at the receipt of custom and listed the gifts as they were brought. The city was represented by Mayor and Mrs. David Leeming, and Aldermen R. T. Williams, W. T. Straith, Alex. Peden, James Adams and J. A. Worthington.

The ladies pouring tea were Mrs. Radbourne, Mrs. H. L. Butteris, Mrs. Dr. Baillie and Mrs. P. F. Curtis.

Mrs. J. Quinn, the matron, together with her staff, showed visitors over the home and received many compliments on its spotless cleanliness and the healthy appearance of the little inmates.

"Haack" Not "Haugh" But Sound Alike

R. E. Haack, manager of the Bank of Montreal at Stewart, B.C., has a lost prairie friend in Victoria, but the trouble is he does not know who he is.

Mr. Haack, his wife and family, are the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. George this week at their home on the Gorge. Before being transferred to the north, Mr. Haack was in Hatton, Sask. When a prairie friend read in The Victoria Times early this week of Mr. Haack's arrival, he called up the George's home.

The misunderstanding started because of the similarity in sound over the telephone of the name "Haack" and that of Edward Haugh, who also from the north and happens to be a house guest of the Georges, and was called to the telephone. When the voice at the other end of the line began talking about old times on the prairies, Mr. Haugh replied he knew nothing about them as he was a 100 per cent northern sourdough. The prairie friend thinking he had Mr. Haack, when he really had Mr. Haugh, decided he must have had the wrong Mr Haack and withdrew. Now that the mistake is realized, Mr. Haack is looking for the prairie friend.

"Conditions are naturally retarded up the Coast, compared with the mine boom days of a couple of years ago," said Mr. Haack. "But we still have the Premier mine. The old Premier is the backbone and mainstay of the Portland Canal."

SET SENTENCES IN VANCOUVER

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 7—Sentences of nine months in jail with hard labor were passed by Magistrate W. M. Mckay on Percy Greenwell, convicted of breaking and entering, and William Meredith, convicted of retaining stolen property.

The charges arose out of a burglary on September 26 at the home of Inspector I P. Caulkin, R.C.M.P., West Twenty-sixth Avenue. A short time after the robbery Detectives E. Munro and W. Rawlinson of the city force discovered some of the stolen articles in an automobile rented by Meredith from a livery garage. The articles had been overlooked by the thieves.

Officers of the R.C.M.P. co-operated with the city police, and the two men were arrested and practically all the stolen goods were recovered.

Convicted of breaking into premises of Morton, Clarke and Company, Main Street, on September 28 and stealing $500 worth of cigarettes, Lorne Anderson was sentenced by Magistrate McKay to nine months in jail with hard labor.

New Cabinet For Roumania

Associated Press

Vienna, Oct. 7.—Dispatches received from Bucharest to-day said the Roumanian cabinet of Premier Vaida-Voevod had resigned.

The reports could not be confirmed here, however.

Premier Vaida-Voevod arrived this morning at Roman, where King Carol is participating in army manoeuvres, to [illegible] over refusal of the cabinet to accept recommendations of the League of Nations financial committee.

It was believed in some quarters here, however, that resignation of the cabinet was inevitable and that the next government probably would be headed by Nicholas Titulescu.

Birthday Greetings Are Extended To-day To—

A. M. MANSON, K.C.
CAPT. J. A. RAYMOND
GEORGE W. ROBINSON

A. M. MANSON

A former Attorney-General of B.C., Mr. Manson, who represents Omineca, is one of the most versatile speakers in the Provincial Legislature. He was born in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1883, and came to Canada when he was six years of age. Mr. Manson was graduated from the University of Toronto and later attended Osgoode Hall. He came to British Columbia in 1908 after reading law with a prominent Toronto law firm. He first entered politics in 1912, when he successfully ran as Liberal candidate for the Skeena riding. In 1916 he entered his present constituency and was again successful. From 1918 until 1920 inclusive, he was Deputy Speaker of the Provincial Legislature and the following year was named Speaker. From January, 1922, until the Liberal Party went out of power in August, 1928, he was Attorney-General and Minister of Labor. Mr. Manson is a member of many societies both here and in Vancouver, where he lives at Western Parkway, University Hill.

GEORGE W. ROBINSON

George W. Robinson, well known in Victoria and British Columbia bicycle racing circles, celebrates his birthday to-day. Mr. Robinson came to Victoria thirty years ago from Manitoba and attended the Boys' Central and Victoria High Schools. He was engaged in several enterprises until he became interested in the firm of Plimley and Ritchie after the war. He was secretary-treasurer for a number of years and later appointed to be manager. In 1929 he purchased the business of Harris and Smith and has developed it to its present large proportions. As secretary of the Victoria Cycling Club he has played an important part in the development of bicycle riding and racing. Mr. Robinson, who is the secretary of the Metropolitan United Sunday School, lives at 2929 Quadra Street.

CAPT. J. A. RAYMOND

In fairness to Capt. Raymond of the Victoria Fire Brigade, it should be said he did not pose for this picture on his birthday to-day. His enterprising young son, Phil, induced him to pose some time ago to win a prize in The Times photograph contest. Capt. Raymond was born in Battersea, England. He came from England as a lad and jointed the Victoria Fire Brigade twenty-two years ago. A good record with the firefighters has won him the rank of captain. He lives at 1727 Haultain Street.

MEN PUT OFF TRAINS

Sudbury, Ont., Oct. 7. (Canadian Press)—Jails in northern Ontario are crowded to capacity and railway police are not arresting transients though they are putting them off of trains in line with the government's order which went into effect October 1.

GEORGE J. COOK WINS THIS TIME

Has Two Lawyers in Court and Holds Possession of Three Houses

George J. Cook, acting as his own lawyer throughout the trial, lost out ten days ago before Judge Lampman, who gave a verdict ordering Mr. Cook to give up possession of the three houses at 500, 502 and 506 Gore Street, owned by Joan Oliver Macdonald, Robert Bryden and John William Bryden.

The judge said he accepted the evidence of members of the firm of P. R. Brown & Sons to the effect that Mr. Cook had paid them only a small deposit on a contract to purchase the houses, and although he had never completed or even made any more payments, had held possession of the properties and had been gathering all the rents.

Mr. Cook told the court he was going to carry his case personally before the Court of Appeal.

To-day, however, the case was back before Judge Lampman, with Mr. Cook still in possession of the houses. This time Mr. Cook had two lawyers fighting his case in the persons of C. W. Bradshaw and Gordon Cameron. After a detailed argument and quotation of authorities from Mr. Bradshaw, the judge accepted the technicality discovered by Mr. Bradshaw as precluding foreclosure against Mr. Cook.

The lawyers pointed out that if Joan Oliver Macdonald and the Brydens want to get their houses back from Mr. Cook they will have to start the legal actions from the very beginning again.

COULD USE PLANT FOR CITY LIGHT

B.C. Electric Company Will Not Take Over Street Lighting Operation

The B.C. Electric Railway Company does not wish to take over the operation of the city's street lighting system, the business and trade development committee of the City Council was told yesterday by the chairman, Alderman W. D. Todd.

This move was suggested by the city auditors in their report of the economy survey of civic departments.

The city will take under advisement, however, the possibility of operating its own lighting plant to supply street lights and, possibly, for other civic purposes. This could be done, it is stated, by acquiring the power plant at Goldstream watershed when the agreement between the B.C.E.R. and the old Esquimalt Waterworks runs out in 1938.

A capital expenditure would be necessary to secure the equipment at Goldstream, but this would be eventually saved through reduction in lighting charges, it was suggested.

GERMAN ARMS NOTE IS SENT

Conditions of Participation in Proposed Four-power Conference Submitted to Britain

Canadian Press and Associated Press

Berlin, Oct. 7.—The cabinet decided to-day to reply to the British proposal for a four-power arms conference at London with a note laying down the definite conditions under which Germany would participate.

The text of the note was withheld until it should reach London, but it was said on good information Germany maintained the stand that a definite programme must be laid down immediately before the conference when it meets and that the principal point of the programme must be equality of treatment for Germany in the matter of armaments.

GERMANY BLAMED

Paris, Oct. 7.—Germany was blamed by the Paris press to-day for the postponement yesterday of the British proposal for a four-power conference on the German demand for arms equality.

The newspaper Excelsior said Premier Edouard Herriot had never taken a negative attitude toward the conference proposal, but that after conferring with Lord Tyrell, British Ambassador, and Sir John Simon, British Secretary for Foreign Affairs, a number of objections seemed to them so well founded they referred them to Premier MacDonald at London, after which it was announced the conference would be postponed from October 11.

The announcement, the newspaper said, showed the objections were received with sympathetic understanding at London.

WINTRY BLASTS HIT ALBERTA

Canadian Press

Calgary, Oct. 7.—Wintry blasts struck southern and central Alberta again to-day as snow covered the countryside, driven by cold winds. Wheat fields were covered with a white blanket as worried farmers anxiously scanned the sky for the sun to appear and permit harvesting operations to continue.

Snow started falling early yesterday morning, accompanied in some areas by rain. The precipitation stopped for a while yesterday afternoon, but snow appeared again early this morning. Temperatures hovered around the twenty-two-above mark, coldest this fall.

Disruption of harvesting operations occurred when only from 10 to 20 per cent of the grain was left in the fields. It will be more than a week before the farmers can continue work in the fields, unless the sun appears shortly to drive away the snow.

The downfall extended from districts north of Calgary to the United States boundary, and it showed no signs of abating. Both the Calgary and Lethbridge districts were covered with a thin layer of snow.

URGES INQUIRY ON INTEREST

A. Speakman, Farmer, to Ask Commons to Vote For Debt Investigation

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The government should inquire into debts and interest charges within Canada, in the opinion of Alfred Speakman, United Farmer member for Red Deer.

A resolution he has drafted to introduce in the Commons later this session reads:

"Whereas the question of public and private indebtedness has become one of our greatest and most perplexing problems, enhanced during the past years by the extremely low price level of all primary commodities, through which this indebtedness must be in large part met, and the effect of which has been to double and treble the actual burden of these liabilities;

"And whereas this fact has been recognized in respect of certain international obligations, and has become a practical issue in respect of public obligations no thought has as yet been given the heavy private indebtedness within this country, although these, together with the high interest rates which prevail, constitute just as heavy and impossible a burden to the individual as do national and international obligations to the countries concerned;

"And whereas this situation is one of the greatest factors in the present economic depression, and is one of the greatest barriers to the financial recovery of agriculture and industry, and as such deserves and commands the immediate attention of this Parliament.

"Therefore, be it resolved that, in the opinion of this House, the government should give serious and immediate attention to the question of debts and interest rates within this country, and the possibility of their reduction, either by way of direct action or by the submission of the entire problem to a special committee of this House, in order that the subject may be fully inquired into, and, if possible, some solution found."

MAN IS JAILED FOR FIVE YEARS

Canadian Press

Toronto, Oct. 7.—H. L. Austin, bond clerk in the Ontario Provincial Treasurer's office who was arrested two weeks ago, pleaded guilty in court today to theft of $15,800. He was sentenced to five years in the Kingston penitentiary.

Defalcations for which Austin admitted guilt in part are believed to be in the neighborhood of $2,500.

Through a system of taking uncancelled bond coupons from province of Ontario bonds, he was able to carry on thefts for some time. Provincial and city officers found he had a bank account in a west end bank. Checking up of his account there resulted in his arrest.

RECOVER LOST CARGO OF COAL

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—Coal that has been buried at the bottom of the sea for fifty-seven years has been recovered unimpaired as fuel.

The coal is part of the cargo of the United States barque Union that went down in Rosario Strait, at the southern end of the Gulf of Georgia, in sixty feet of water in 1875. She was en route from Nanaimo to San Francisco. The coal was recovered with a clamshell bucket from the wreck.

W. S. Benjamin, veteran diver, and Frank Wright of the Carlisle Packing Co., are sponsors of the salvage venture.

While the surface of the cargo is covered with shells, the coal under the surface is unimpanred, it is claimed, and a substantial return from the salvage operation is expected.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Max Schmeling Plays Havoc With Eyes of His Opponents

* * *

* * *

New York Rangers Finally Dispose of Goalie Roach

IT CAN'T be much fun to fight this fellow Max Schmeling. He seems to be the kind of a guy who shoots for the eyes. They called a halt on the German's assault of Mickey Walker in the ninth round, when both of the only pair of eyes the Mick had left were closed. And our memory of the appearance of Jack Sharkey after going fifteen rounds with the beetle-browed German is that one big shiny lump on Sharkey's face where an eye should have been. Max attacked Stribling's eyes, too. In the last round of their stirring battle in the Cleveland Stadium Stribling was pawing blindly about the ring, trying to find the fellow who hit him. Risko suffered eye trouble after his bout with Schmeling, and so did Paolino.

* * *

In order to hit a man, it is always essential that one see him. Maxie himself has always taken good care of his eyes. He received a slightly black eye in that Stribling bout and immediately rushed back to Germany, canceling all engagements and placing himself under the care of the best eye specialists in his home land. Of course one can see with only one optic working. But the point is that one cannot see very well. Timing is one of the most important elements of a punch in boxing, and if the eyes are not co-ordinating, if one orb is out of commission, the boxer's sense of distance is vague.

* * *

Dempsey, after his first fight with Tunney, worried a great deal about his eyes. Tunney was the slashing type of fighter, more likely to inflict greater damage to the eyes than a slugger. The hand, dragged across the eye, leaves irritating resin and dirt, which is apt to cause infection. Eye infection has been a serious tragedy in the lives of several great heavyweights. After his second fight with Tunney, Dempsey made an interesting statement when asked if he would attempt another comeback. "No, I'm through," said Jack. "I want to keep this (pointing to his forehead) and these (touching his eyes). You know what happened to Harry Greb. I want to see my way around for awhile yet."

* * *

Greb was partly blinded by blows, but being one of the gamest fighters who ever pulled on a glove, carried on and spent the last days of his life in the shadows. Pete Herman, former bantamweight champion, is almost totally blind. The splendid lightweight of former years, Sammy Mandell, has been suffering from serious defects of vision. Same Langford is nearly blind.

* * *

Many cheap fighters resort to the trick of hitting an adversary on the head, and as the blow is struck, allowing the thumb of the glove to stick out straight an dig at one of the eyes. This is a variation of the gouging tactics frequently employed in the rough-and-tumble battles of the old days. Schmeling, of course, is not that kind of a fighter. He is rought, but he is a straight shooter.

The New York Rangers have finally succeeded in disposing of John Ross Roach, their goalie for the last four seasons. Following the Stanley Cup series with the Toronto Maple Leafs last year, in which Roach failed to make a very impressive showing, Lester Patrick, manager of the Rangers, announced he would attempt to sell or trade Roach. Early this fall the goalie was placed on the market, but failed to even attract an offer so that his sale to Detroit for the handsome sum of $11,000 came as a surprise.

* * *

Roach went to the Rangers in a trade with the Toronto Maple Leafs for goalie Lorne Chabot. The irony of the trade is that since going to Toronto Chabot has stamped himself as one of the leading net-minders in the National Hockey League. Roach was a mighty fine goalie when he first joined the Rangers, but seemed to slip last year. Now he is going back with Jack Adams, manager of Detroit, who once played in front of Roach.

Saskatoon, Oct. 7—Saskatoon all-stars captured the provincial lacrosse championship and qualified to meet the winners of the British Columbia versus Alberta series in the second round of the western Canada Mann Cup playdowns when they defeated Regina all-stars 11 to 2 here yesterday evening to take the final round 14 to 4.

Baseball League Behind Plans To Obtain Equipment

Committee Composed of R. A. Hunt, "Red" Ramsdale, Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins and Arthur Cox Will Make Thorough Investigation of Project; Approximate Cost of System Placed at $12,000; Proposed System Would Provide for Playing Night Football and Rugby

First definite steps towards securing lighting equipment at the Royal Athletic Park for staging night games were taken yesterday evening at a special meeting of the Victoria Senior Amateur Baseball League held at the Y.M.C.A.

After thoroughly discussing plans a preliminary committee composed of R. A. Hunt, president of the league; "Red" Ramsdale, league secretary; Arthur Cox and Alderman T. W. C. Hawkins was appointed to investigate the question and report back to a future meeting.

The meeting which whole-heartedly endorsed the plan to equip the park with lighting facilities was attended by the following: R. A. Hunt, Ernie Cook, Eddie Newman, "Red" Ramsdale, Bob Vipond, Harry Down, L. M. Sallaway, Don Smith, Alderman Hawkins and Arthur Cox.

Under present plans the baseball league will take it upon themselves to secure sufficient funds for installation of the lights. However, the lights will be installed in such a way that it will be possible to use them for conducting night football and rugby matches and wrestling bouts, or any other sport that might wish to use them.

Alderman Hawkins laid a plan before the meeting for the raising of the necessary finances for the project. He outlined a scheme whereby each of the four teams in the league would be required to sell a certain number of tickets which would supply ample cash for the purchase and installation of the lights.

MEANS MUCH WORK

Alderman Hawkins further stated that if the ball league went ahead with the project everybody would have to get behind the move as they would find they had a hard row to hoe. He further stated that it would be imperative to install a system that would be attractive to the public. Alderman Hawkins also provided the meeting with considerbale data regarding the cost of installation and the type of equipment that would be necessary.

At the present time it is figured the cost of the equipment and installation would mean an expenditure of approximately $12,000.

The practicability of night lighting for outdoor games has been proved beyond doubt. All classes of the public are interested in sports and demand that games be played at opportune times when they can attend. Judging from the enthusiasm shown by the public at all the night lighted games in Canada and the United States, it has been found that the public are even more interested when sporting events are held at night. Athletic Park, Vancouver, is a good example of the success of night games. Attendances at ball games in Vancouver have increased about 4 to 1 since night fixtures were introduced.

NIGHT GAMES POPULAR

Lighted sports are apparently here to stay. They have been popular in the United States for the last three years. The secret of their success may be summed up in brief. The masses of people who never could attend sports in the daytime on account of business, can and will attend games in the evening.

To attract the public and maintain its following it is essential that the lighting system be of unquestioned merit. In order to provide lights for baseball, football and rugby the system must supply an illumination of fairly high average intensity and must be sufficiently flexible to permit other games being played there if necessary. The light must be effective not only on the ground, but for a considerable distance into the air, so that sight of the ball is never lost. It is necessary to light the baseball diamond to far higher intensity than that of the outfield, and for this purpose a far greater number of floodlights are concentrated on the diamond. The beams of light must overlap and criss-cross so that no dark patches occur on the field and so that shadows are short, soft and not objectionable in any way. Glare and shadows must be reduced to minimum by locating the projectors high above the field, and by properly directing the beams of light.

All those attending yesterday evening's meeting voiced their support of the plan and expressed themselves as willing to lend every effort towards securing the lights for next year's baseball season.

NEGRO FIGHT CHAMP VISITS

Al Walker, Claimant of Colored Heavyweight Title, Here From Australia

Won Two Fights in Antipodes From "Tiger" Payne and Frankie Wine

Yaas, sur!

Black as the ace of spades he displayed a dazzling set of teeth as he related his most recent exploits. He was recently in Sydney, where he showed his stuff under the sponsorship of the National Sporting Club.

While he was in Australia, Walker was matched with "Tiger" Payne of Omaha, and Frankie Wine of Iowa, in fifteen-round bouts. Both fights went the whole way, Walker earning the decision in both scraps.

Walker said there were no more bouts offering in Australia, so he naturally headed back to this continent in search of action more suited to his temperament.

SEEKS BOUT ON COAST

He said he planned to remain in Vancouver for a few days in an effort to get a bout.

"What kind of a fight town is it?" he asked.

"I'm going to look it over, anyway, and if there's nothing doing, I shall trot along to little ol' New York."

Walker claims the colored heavyweight title on the grounds that he whipped George Godfrey in 1929.

Australia is a good fight country, Al is ready to admit. Packed houses turned out to see him gain the decision over Payne and Wine. Although there was no knockout in either case, there was plenty of action.

Others traveling on the Niagara who saw the fight between Walker and Payne, declared it was a riot, the spectators rising in their seats and singing "Ol' Black Joe."

In a bout staged in Brisbane, Queensland, Stribling punished Renault badly. The pair were not such a big drawing card in Sydney, he said.

Renault traveled with Walker on the Niagara as far as Auckland, New Zealand, where the Canadian met George Walker, the wrestler, and stayed over for a while. Frankie Wine came on as far as Honolulu.

Asked what he thought his chances were in getting a bout in the United States, Walker said he opined they were good.

"I'm not going to stagnate for long," he said. "The gang will soon be hearing from me."

AUTO RACER IS FATALLY HURT

"Dutch" Snyder, Portland, Dies From Injuries Received in Crash at Seattle

Seattle, Oct. 7.—Elwin (Dutch) Snyder, thirty-two, Portland, a professional automobile racer, was fatally injured in a collision between two racing cars at the Civic Stadium yesterday evening and another driver received injuries from which physicians feared he would not recover.

In full view of several thousand spectators, Snyder's car and one driven by Ray Dudley, twenty-five, Tacoma, collided and piled up beside the track. Snyder died within a few minutes after he had been taken to a hospital, suffering a broken back and other injuries.

Dudley, also caught in the wreckage, was rushed to a hospital and his condition was described as serious. He received severe internal injuries, cerebral broken bones and a possible fractured skull, with his face crushed.

The accident occurred on the twenty-second lap of the thirty-lap main event for the evening, with the racers driving on a dirt quarter-mile track. Immediately Referee Curley Coleman flagged the other cars to a stop.

McLarnin Reigns 2 to 1 Favorite

Vancouver Welterweight Public Choice in His Bout To-night With Leonard

Experts Concede Benny Little Chance of Whipping Pacific Coast Scrapper

New York, Oct. 7. — Back into pugilism's "big money" crashes Benny Leonard to-night in what may be the last stand of his courageous fight to regain the fistic heights he once knew.

The former lightweight champion, now thirty-six years old and more than a little bald, tackles rough, tough and, before everything else, young, Jimmy McLarnin, belting welterweight from Vancouver, in a ten-round bout in Madison Square Garden.

McLarnin, twenty-five-year-old "veteran" of the ring wars, and known for several years as one of the hardest punchers in the business, rates a two-to-one favorite in the betting. Experts concede Leonard little chance against him to-night.

Benny has bowled over a score of minor opponents, and generally fought himself into first-rate condition, but the "old master" is not the Leonard of lightweight championship days.

Leonard was a portly business man two years ago, his ring fortune apparently secure in real estate, part owner of the Pittsburgh franchise in the National Hockey League. The storm of depression that broke over the country swept him down with the rest. He knew but one way back—the ring.

IN FINE CONDITION

To-day he still scales slightly to leeward of 150 pounds, a heavy welterweight, but his face is thin again with the thinness of perfect physical condition. His chest and arms are heavy with muscle; his legs strong and lively. He rubs a bit of lamp black into his scalp to hide the thin spot under the glare of the ring lights.

Toast of the ghetto, Benny has come back, even though his punching lacks the old venom and he cannot shake off a clout as he once did.

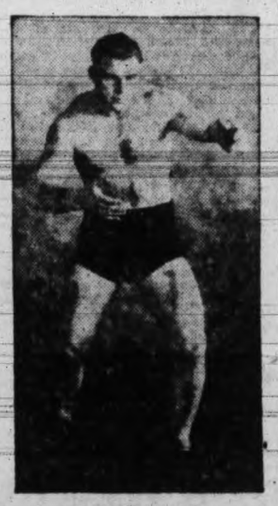
It scarcely seems in the cards that even the boxing brilliance of a Leonard, his masterly strategy, can offset the surges of the youth McLarnin, one of the stiffest punchers for his weight and inches in the ring.

For years the baby-faced Vancouver dynamiter has been an uncrowned champion, first of the lightweights, then the welterweight division. He has been the particular scourge of the Jewish youngsters who came up on Benny's trail from the ghetto, each with the label "another Leonard." He knocked out Sid Terris, Al Singer and Ruby Goldstein, among these, along with a host of others.

The possibility that chronic bad hands may hamper him, however, and the fact that he was unimpressive losing to Lou Brouillard this summer, encourages Leonard and his backers.

"McLarning used to be a great boxer," Leonard said yesterday, "but he has forgotten that. Now he's a [illegible] always could lick those ro[illegible] fellows. Whatever else I lack I can still do that to-day."

OPPOSES RILEY



"ROCKY" BROOKS

local heavyweight grappler, who will meet Pat Riley, Chicago, in one of the two main events being staged at the Pacific Stadiums arena to-night. In the other half of the double bill, Hardy Kruskamp, Denver, will tackle Al Perlea, Spain. The first bout will start at 8.45 o'clock.

JACK FORSGREN DEFEATS BLAKE

Vancouver Wrestler Takes Two Out of Three Falls From Californian

Vancouver, Oct. 7—Jack Forsgren, Vancouver, 210, took two out of three falls to defeat Ronald Blake, Hollywood, 210, in the second half of a double main event on the wrestling card here yesterday evening.

Blake took the first fall in the second round with a flying body scissors. Forsgren evened matters in the third with a Boston crab and won the verdict in the next canto with a body press.

Hardy Kruskamp, Ohio, 208, won from Nick Velkoff, San Francisco, 223, in the first half of the feature event, tossing the San Franciscan for the only fall of the match in the fourth round with a series of flying tackles and a body press.

BOWLERS MEET

The annual meeting of the Burnside Bowling Club will be held to-night at 8 o'clock at the Hampton Road Hall. Election of officers and tendering of reports will take place. All members are asked to attend.

Aston Villa Will Meet Huddersfield In Feature Battle

Leaders of English First Division Football Will Face Stiff Opposition To-morrow; Arsenal, Second-place Holders, Will Be Hosts to Derby County; Glasgow Rangers and Motherwell Continue Bitter Fight for Leadership of Scottish First Division

London, Oct. 7—There is a good prospect of a change in the leadership of the first division of the English Football League after games on Saturday. Aston Villa are at present enjoying a one-point lead over Arsenal but the leaders have to journey to Huddersfield Town, present holders of fourth place, and anything might happen. At the same time Arsenal will play host to Derby County, the third bracket holders, and will be trying mighty hard to get into first rank.

Chief interest will centre upon these two games. Newcastle United should ensure their fifth position at the expense of the lowly Sheffield United who are in nineteenth place, but will be out to chalk up a win on their own grounds. West Bromwich Albion have the advantage of their home grounds to play Wolverhampton Wanderers and a win for them should considerably better their standing of sixth.

CAN BREAK TIE

In the Second Division Stoke City and Bradford City will have a chance to break their tie for first place. Stoke City goes to Bradford, who are in eighth place, while Bradford City journeys to Millwall, holders of sixth place. The two leaders will have to win their games to stay on top. Plymouth Argyle, in third place, only one point behind them, have the advantage of entertaining the lowly Charlton Athletic, from whom they should get both points. Bury is tied with Plymouth Argyle and play on their home grounds against Fulham. The former tied a game to-day with Notts County, 2-2.

Brentford should increase their already substantial lead in the Third Division, southern section, since they play Swindon Town, in second last place.

Chester, two points ahead of Stockport County and Southport, in the Third Division, northern section, will be out to increase that lead at the expense of Carlisle United, who have to play on the league-leaders' own grounds. Southport goes to Mansfield Town and Stockport County are at home to Tranmere Rovers.

Glasgow, Oct. 7.—The race in the First Division of the Scottish Football League continues to be an exciting one. There are five teams within two points of one another and games to be played on Saturday will be watched with keen interest.

Rangers hold a one-point margin over Motherwell for first place and when they play in Dundee they will be "all out" to increase it. Motherwell are at home to Queen's Park, however, and should take two points from the ninth Yankers. There are three teams tied for third place, Hamilton, Celtic and Aberdeen. Celtic have the advantage of playing on their own ground against St. Johnstone, while Hamilton have to journey to Third Lanark, and Aberdeen to Cowdenbeath. Hearts and St. Mirren are close behind the leaders.

In the Second Division the fast traveling Queen of the South aggregation have a one-point lead over Raith Rovers, Hibernians and Albion Rovers. The league leaders play on their own grounds against King's Park. Raith Rovers are at home to Edinburgh City, Hibernians are at home to Bo'ness and Albion Rovers journey to Montrose.

Victoria Rider and Partner Move Into Sixth Place in Toronto Bike Grind

Lew Rush and Frank Elliott Are Eliminated; McNamara-Crossley Hold Lead

Toronto, Oct. 7.—Reg McNamara, iron man of six-day bicycle riding, with his younger partner, Al Crossley, maintained their two-lap advantage over the field as Toronto's six-day grind reached its next to closing day. They had covered 1,790 miles and seven laps.

Throughout the night McNamara and Fielding held their margin intact. Out of the picture yesterday evening went Lew Rush and Frank Elliott, Victoria and Vancouver youngsters, under the rule that eliminates the trailing team every twenty-four hours.

In second place this morning at 8 o'clock remained the Van Slambrouck-Fielding combination, two laps behind the leaders. Another two laps back was the Lepage-Stubecke team.

The standing at 8 o'clock this morning follows:

	M.	L.	P.

BIG POTATO CROP CONTEST

Competitors Will Show Highest Results From Pound of Seed

At the Chrysanhemum Show which will be held to-morrow afernoon and evening at the Shrine Hall by the Victoria Horticultural Society there will be a most interesting and unusual potato competition. This is being staged by the society in the interest of increased production and particularly to show how many potatoes can be raised from a one-pound planting. About forty members of the society took one pound of seed potatoes each this spring and undertook to grow them, and to turn in for exhibition and competition the total production. The result of the competiion will be seen on Saturday and from information supplied by some of the contestants production has been excellent; several members saying that they will have to hire trucks to transport their crop to the hall.

One member alone exhibited 13½ pounds at the last society meeting, which he advised were produced from two ounces, so if all entries have produced in the same proportion the result will be most gratifying. The show will be opened by Mrs. J. W. Fordham-Johnson and a record attendance is anticipated.

Can You Beat Or Equal This One?

Port Alberni, Oct. 7.—W. Duggan, Vancouver, who is holidaying at Sproat Lake, reports he was hunting deer Tuesday. He was surveying the surrounding country from the top of a log when a big black bear crashed through the underbrush in front of him. Startled at seeing the hunter, bruin leaped high into the air and landed with all fours on top of a buck deer which had been crouching near the log. It was hard to say which was more startled—hunter, bear or deer. However, Mr. Duggan was the first to recover from the surprise and with two well-placed shots dispatched both bear and deer.

CONFERENCE IS STATED SUCCESS

Conservative Party of Britain, in Convention, Gives Views on Ottawa

Blackpool, Eng., Oct. 7.—The Conservative Party of Great Britain, at yesterday's session of its annual meeting here, hailed the Ottawa Economic Conference as a major achievement, resolved against further cuts in unemployment allowances, and expressed confidence in the government's ability to deal with the Indian situation.

Without a dissenting vote the meeting adopted a resolution saying it recorded its view "That the agreements concluded at Ottawa have materially advanced the cause of Imperial economic unity, and will result in substantial and increased advantage to British industry and agriculture."

Decision of the meeting against further cuts in unemployment relief came at the end of a discussion of conditions in distressed mining areas oy Sir Daniel L. Thomas, stipendiary magistrate of Pontypridd, Wales. Sir Daniel declared himself in favor of restoring the cuts made in unemployment benefits by last year's budget.

TAX ON MEAT

Major Walter Elliott, recently appointed Minister of Agriculture, spoke on behalf of a resolution, which was subsequently adopted, urging a tax on foreign meat and lowering of the existing tax on beer.

He told the meeting also the government at the next session would bring down measures designed to put British agriculture back on its feet.

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Blackpool, Eng., Oct. 7.—Delegates at the annual conference of the Conservative Party yesterday were restless over the conditions in India. Critic after critic challenged recent developments as subversive to British authority.

"Have we not the example of Ireland and the scrapping of treaties by Mr. de Valera?" exclaimed one die-hard. Another referred to the India Round-table Conference as "stinking in our nostrils."

Lord Lloyd, former High Commissioner for Egypt and the Sudan, joined in the general criticism, declaring there could be no real self-government in India until the electorate became literate.

On behalf of Epping division, which is represented in the House of Commons by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, a resolution was moved declaring among other things the "conference cannot feel a democratic electorate of 36,000,000 persons, mainly primitive and illiterate persons, is capable at the present time of constituting the foundations of a responsible government for India."

After opposition to the resolution in its entirety from Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary for India in the National Government, an amendment was carried deleting any suggestion of no confidence in the ability of the government to carry the situation to a successful conclusion.

MANY INTERPECTIONS

Sir Samuel, however, was emphatic that there was no intention in the mind of any members of the government that the drafting of a constitution for India should in any way resemble the rushing through Parliament of the Irish Treaty.

HOMER GIVES NEWARK TITLE

Marvin Owen Lifts Ball Out of Park in Ninth to Defeat Minneapolis 8 to 7

Victory Gave Bears Little World Baseball Series Honors; Attendances Small

Minneapolis, Oct. 7. — Newark's Bears sped homeward to-day with the 1932 little world series honors among their memories and $17,347.86 jingling in their pockets.

A ninth inning home run was worth $5,762.62 to players sharing in the twenty-three-way split, for it added that much to the winners' portion, and defeated Minneapolis, American Association champions, 8 to 7, yesterday in the sixth game of the series. It was Newark's fourth victory.

Marvin Owen, third sacker for the the International League pennant winners, made the run with one on base with a drive which floated far over the right field fence. It assured Owen and his teammates of 60 per cent of the players' purse of $28,913.10, leaving the Millers with $11,565.24 to split into twenty-two shares.

Don Brennan, big Newark right-hander, who had not required relief in his last seventeen games, was driven from the mound after five innings, and three other pitchers followed him as the Millers clouted their way to a lead of 7 to 5 when the ninth inning began.

HENRY PITCHES WELL

Dutch Henry, left-hander, who accounted for one of the two Minneapolis win of the series, kept out of serious trouble until he opened the ninth by giving Jess Hill a walk and then grooving one which Woody Jenson blasted for a triple.

Owen wasted no time and drove Henry's second pitch out of the park to mark up the winning run and his mates with John Murphy, fifth Newark pitcher of the day on the mound, braced when the Millers came to bat. Murphy fielded a grouder by game after two Millers had taken bases a double play which wound up the game after two Millers had taken base on singles.

ASSIZES ENDS; TWO SENTENCED

Bertha Brooks Given Three Years; Chief Justice Caustic in Comments

Four Acquittals in Five Cases Submitted to Jury

The Fall Assizes closed yesterday afternoon with sentencing by Chief Justice Morrison, of Bertha Brooks, convicted of illegally having possession of opium and morphine and Chan Lee, who pleaded guilty to retaining a watch and chain in his possession, knowing the articles to have been stolen.

Mrs. Brooks was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary and to pay a fine of $200. In default of payment a further term of six months to be added to the sentence.

Chan Lee was sent to the penitentiary for two years, the sentence to run concurrently with sentences of similar duration recently imposed in the police court on charges of obtaining money by means of worthless cheques.

Trial of Mrs. Brooks occupied the whole afternoon, with W. C. Moresby, K.C., as Crown counsel; R. R. Wootton representing the narcotic division of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and Frank Higgins, K.C., as counsel for the prisoner.

Sergt. L. J. Black of the Mounted Police and Inspector McLellan of the city police told of visiting the Panama Hotel last November. They traced a strong smell of opium to a locked room where smoking equipment was found, together with opium dross and tins believed to have contained the drug. In the room was a parcel addressed to one of the girl inmates in which two tins containing opium were found wrapped in a garment. Morphine was found in a pocket of a coat hanging in a bedroom occupied by the accused.

CONSPIRACY IS PLEA

The defence was that Mrs. Brooks had been absent in Vancouver for several weeks and had only returned on the day the police visited the premises. The accused took the stand and said she had operated a house of ill-fame. Two of the girls had been ejected for using drugs and she was the victim of their conspiracy to plant the drug in the premises, she claimed.

In his charge to the jury the Chief Justice denounced traffickers in drugs. He pointed out that the onus of proving innocence was cast upon the accused, Parliament having reversed the usual process of law in regard to drug cases. There was a limit to one's credulity and he presumed the jury would not be diverted from their course by trivialities.

FOUR ACQUITTALS

Six trials were scheduled for the assizes, the result being four acquittals, one conviction and one plea of guilty.

A GROWL AND A GRUMBLE

To the Editor:—Your reports of the Liberal meetings in Vancouver afford interesting reading. No compliments were wasted upon the Conservative Party, whilst it was freely stated that the great hope of the province lay in the return of their opponents to power. On that day the millenium will dawn.

Yet I spent a few minutes, maybe hours, wondering how and why. What measures of relief would the Liberals propose. As one who from boyhood shouted for the Liberal Party, worked in early manhood on their side, struggled to secure measures of reform through their support, I am a little chagrined that a great gathering should have produced so little tangible results. Premier Tolmie may not be a world statesman; his cabinet may not be an aggregation of all the talents; the Legislative enactments may not be Solomon-like in wisdom, yet what can you expect when everybody is roaring at you and the money won't hold out?

What will the Liberals do? What do the leaders—Messrs. Pattullo, Farris, Manson, etc., suggest as the way out of unemployment, financial difficulties, commercial depression, an empty treasury and an appalling lessened morale amongst the people of the province everywhere?

Had I been at the convention at Vancouver, I might have obtained enlightenment on these questions, for clever men and statesmen were there, but if these things were expounded or considered, the reports did not reach Victoria.

Mr. Editor, I do not strongly approve of criticism that merely condemns or that lavishly endorses, but in the light of the distress of the workers the weight of taxation—both Dominion, provincial and municipal—the hopeless outlook, it is not unreasonable to expect something more than scathing criticism of opponents or light badinage of the mistakes or failures of the government in power.

Citizens might well say to both parties: We asked for bread, but you gave us a stone; we sought for work, but the response was no money. Thoughtful people who care little for party politics are anxiously looking for leadership out of the "Slough of Despond," and I am honestly chagrined that the leaders of Liberalism did not expound a programme that would bring cheer and hope to the toilers, who are anxiously looking for help.

Is there any hope through agriculture, building, fisheries, manufactures, new industries, mining, lumber, or any other pursuit that the Liberal Party cannot be busied about?

Are there no wrongs to right? No abuses to correct? No new paths to explore? No economies to practice?

I assure you, Mr. Editor, that I am not a disgruntled Liberal, but I am anxious for the welfare of the hundreds of young men and women just graduating from our schools; for the fathers and mothers who are anxiously looking for food and clothing for the children in their homes, and I am—shall I say honestly peeved—that the Liberals in their enthusiastic meetings at Vancouver, did not find time, nor opportunity, nor wisdom enough to try to find remedies for the financial ills that are afflicting our provincial life.

Vera Cruz Legislature in Mexico Rules Priests Not Citizens

Mexico City, Oct. 7. — Roman Catholic priests in the State of Vera Cruz were deprived of their citizenship to-day by decree of the State Legislature, and all church property was ordered confiscated by the governor for other purposes.

The action was taken at a special session of the Legislature yesterday evening. The decree declaring the priests no longer citizens leaves them liable to expulsion from the country, under provisions of the federal constitution.

The procedure, an aftermath of the expulsion from Mexico this week of Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz y Flores, Papal delegate, was accompanied by a decision on the part of senators and members of the federal congress who belong to the National Revolutionary Party to investigate the status of Archbishop Pascal Diaz of Mexico City to determine whether he is performing religious functions and whether he is entitled to do so by being registered under the ecclesiastical laws.

Price of Ontario Grapes Is Set

Canadian Press

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 7.—Grape growers of the Niagara district are determined to hold their crop for a basket price of fifteen cents and shippers have agreed to abide by the price demanded by the growers. These two facts emerged from a meeting of the executives of the local associations of grape growers held at Beamsville.

The strike of the growers was only against a price lower than fifteen cents a basket and present indications are that unless the growers become panicky the grapes will bring at least fifteen cents a basket. Growers reported large orders both yesterday and to-day at the fifteen-cent figure.

The Irish Free State plans to turn grazing lands into grain fields, and to encourage the change the government may guarantee farmers for their produce for two years.

WILL QUIT WHEN PARTY TIRES OF HIM SAYS PREMIER TOLMIE

Union Government Plan Explained to Victoria Conservatives

James H. Beatty Endorses Liberals' Highway Commission Plan

Whole-hearted endorsement of the Liberal programme with respect to the creation of a highway commission for British Columbia, voiced by James H. Beatty, Conservative M.P.P., and explanation of the course which led to his plea for a union government, by Premier S. F. Tolmie featured the speeches at the annual meeting of the Victoria Conservative Association in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium yesterday evening.

SHREWD MOVE

Mr. Beatty congratulated Premier Tolmie on a very shrewd move in asking Mr. Pattullo to join him in a union government, adding Mr. Pattullo had declined, sticking to a policy of straight Liberal party administration.

He remarked Dr. Tolmie had come into office during the boom. Conditions had been shaken to their bases since then. Naturally the government had gone behind.

Mr. Beatty also lauded the Premier for appointing the Kidd committee.

He agreed with the Liberal platform in the section which called for the formation of a highway commission and was warm in his endorsement of this scheme.

Premier Tolmie paid warm tribute to the work of Premier Bennett, the man, he said, who was chiefly responsible for the Imperial Economic Conference.

He noted the recent honors accorded by the Liberals to the memory of Premier John Oliver, one of the finest leaders the province had ever known, and joined them in this tribute.

The possibility of Hon. Ian MacKenzie becoming the national Liberal leader did not appear to have the earmarks of fact about it, he commented.

Introducing his explanation of his union move, Premier Tolmie noted there was a call for a strong front to face the great problem of depression. In the trying days of the war different parties had coalesced successfully.

He spoke of the refusal of Laurier to enter the union war cabinet, stating it was generally believed his refusal had been based on objection to the conscription bill.

The Canadian union government had worked very well, he said. He referred to the recent union move in Great Britain. Before he broached his plan for union there had been a feeling strongly in favor of it, he declared.

MANITOBA EXAMPLE

The Premier referred to the union effort of Manitoba. It was believed the Conservatives there were solid favorites to sweep the country. When Premier Bracken had made his union move, the Conservatives had refused to enter. At the next election the Farmer-Progressives had swept the country, he noted.

The chief aim of the union move was to eliminate party haggling. Some had accused him of taking a headlong course. He had consulted all the Conservative members on the matter of union before he had launched the move, the Premier said.

After his enunciation of union principles on September 7, he had conferred with Mr. Bowser. He had asked Mr. Bowser and Mr. Pattullo to come into a union government under his leadership. They had declined, he continued.

Any time the Conservatives were tired of him they only had to tell him and he would retire, Dr. Tolmie said.

LATER THREW LEADERSHIP OPEN

To show his good faith in the union move, he had offered to leave the leadership of the government, if the union idea were successful, to the people's elected representatives, he said.

The Premier told a woeful tale of shrinking revenues shortly after the Conservatives' assumption of power, as he traced conditions as they existed to-day. Added burdens of unemployment had further augmented the difficulties facing government, he said.

British Columbia had gone through depressions before. The province would emerge from the present one, he declared.

British Columbia's sinking fund for its indebtedness was greater than that of most other provinces, he said.

Turning to roads, the Premier attributed the high cost of construction and maintenance to the fact British Columbia was in a transitional stage, changing from wagon roads to motor highways. These would attract tourists in future and would merit the outlays on them.

BROACHES P.G.E. BILL

The Conservative government's plan for the future was to call a session in January, bring down its Redistribution Bill and possibly a P.G.E. Bill, as well as other matters before calling for the resignation of the cabinet and a reconstruction of the strongest executive possible.

Then the government would go to the country when weather was favorable for an election.

The greatest difficulty faced by British Columbia was that of finding suitable employment for the jobless. This would be ameliorated through a return of greater markets for provincial goods. He believed the Imperial Economic Conference had done much to further this.

British Columbia had pressed the extension of its markets and had increased its lumber shipment percentages to Australia, he stated.

Referring to the request from British Columbia lumber men for subsidized shipping to the Orient, he said after consideration, Premier Bennett and his cabinet had granted this.

"Union government will be well worthy of a trial," he concluded, briefly summarizing his reason for belief in it.

R. A. Wootton moved a vote of confidence in the Premier which was carried.

NEW RUSSIAN LONDON ENVOY

Believed G. Y. Sokolnikov Recalled to Deal With Soviet Fiscal Problems

Associated Press

Moscow, Oct. 7.—The recall of G. Y. Sokonigow, Ambassador to Great Britain since 1929, was officially announced yesterday evening. Rumors has been current for some time he would return to Moscow to take up important work.

The fact that he is credited with stabilization of the ruble in 1924, when he was Commissar of Finance, has aroused speculation that his return may have something to do with the fiscal problem which faces the government in the form of sharp reduction in the purchasing power of the ruble during recent months.

The announcement said he was leaving his London post at his own request, but it did not indicate what assignment awaited him here.

He will be succeeded in London by I. M. Maisky, at present Minister to Finland.

DIRECT RELIEF SCHEME MOOTED

Toronto, Oct. 7.—The Toronto Globe, in a dispatch from its Ottawa correspondent to-day, said Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, Minister of Labor and chairman of the Dominion Cabinet subcommittee on unemployment relief, would soon submit to Parliament a scheme of direct relief "under which every needy person in Canada will have food, fuel, clothing and shelter during the winter."

An important departure from policy of recent years, the newspaper said, was that the Dominion Government would not share in the cost of municipal public works, but would contribute directly to maintenance of those in distress.

In western Canada, particularly, The Globe continued, arrangements would be made to care for unmarried unemployed men in camps. The newspaper said the government would require to pass no new legislation to enable it to put into effect its proposed scheme, as power it secured to deal with the situation last year were sufficiently flexible to enable it to vary its relief policy in different areas to suit needs of the various provinces.

CHURCHMAN SAYS LAW IS UNJUST

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 7.—"He is a very enthusiastic man indeed who thinks that in our beloved Canada all men are equal before the law," Rev. Dr. W. A. Gifford, Montreal, declared before the United Church General Council here yesterday.

Presenting the report of the sessional committee on evangelism and social service, Professor Gifford was introducing disposition of a memorial sent from the Montreal-Ottawa conference of the church asking the General Council "to use its influence to secure the foreign born against legal injustice, to secure removal of harsh and unreasonable features of the Criminal Code and to moderate the occasional violence of the police."

On recommendation of the committee, the council called on the board of evangelism and social service "to seek to further the ends set in the memorial."

INTERNATIONAL PEACE

Adopting a strongly worded report favoring international peace and disarmament, the General Council condemned private manufacture of armaments, called on the signatories to the Versailles Treaty to expediate disarmament and deplored prevalence of economic nationalism.

The council rejected the amendment of Rev. W. W. MacNairn, Ottawa, to except Great Britain from the clause in the report, "seeing that in the Versailles Treaty, the Allied and Associated powers, while compelling the disarmament of Germany, pledged themselves to reduce their own armaments and have not appreciably done so." Mr. MacNairn believed Great Britain should not be described as not having appreciably assisted disarmament.

"Farmer Brown," Terror of Crooks And Spies, Retires

London—A large, burly man with a Wiltshire accent and a "hail-fellow-well-met" manner which have gained him the nickname "Farmer Brown."

The description does not sound like that of the terror of bank-note forgers and coiners, the arrester of famous murderers, the spy-hunter of wartime days. Yet that is what it is.

For Superintendent W. F. Brown, chief of the "Big Five" of Scotland Yard, was all these things. Now he has retired after thirty-eight years in the police service.

His father was a Wiltshire schoolmaster, and he has never lost the west country accent which, with his appearance, caused his colleagues to call him "Farmer Brown." The underworld, however, had another name for him. They called him "The Guv'nor."

Superintendent Brown joined the police force soon after leaving school in 1894, and three years later he became a detective. His skill in following up the smallest clues, and bringing criminals to justice was so remarkable that he gained rapid promotion, and in 1926 he was area superintendent of the whole of the south side of the Thames.

Although he specialized in forgery cases, Superintendent Brown was engaged in several sensational murder investigations. It was he who arrested Ronald True in a Hammersmith Theatre for the murder of a woman in a Kensington flat. True is still in Broadmoor Criminal Asylum.

In 1921 Scotland Yard was called in to investigate what was called the "Lonely Villa Crime" in Cheshire, where a woman was found strangled. Superintendent Brown arrested the murderer, Fred Wood, who was sentenced to death.

During the war, the superintendent was invaluable to the Intelligence Department, where he was busy tracking down spies.

A curious feature of Superintendent Brown's personality is that his closest friends do not consider that he has an enemy, although he is known to criminals throughout the country. On numerous occasions he has been praised by even the most hardened criminals in the dock for the courteous treatment of them and his fairness in giving evidence against them.

STARS DOCK AT MUSICAL PORT AFTER STORMING MOVIE SEAS

By ROBERT GRANDON

Hollywood.—In the morning's mail comes a letter from an ardent fan asking me what Buddy (Call Me Charles) Rogers is doing these days . . . to which old Bob replies that Call Me Charles, having quit "Hot 'cha," is leading his orchestra at the Hotel Pennsylvania, broadcasting and making records . . which set me thinking as to the number of players of musical ability.

Bing Crosby and Russ Colombo come to mind at once, of course, for they always have been associated with music and films have been secondary in their lives . . But what of others . . Fatty (Big Boy) Arbuckle always has conducted orchestras during his vaudeville engagements, and Grant (Ex-Loretta) Withers took a turn at it after quitting Hollywood and Miss Young.

But some . . . Like Call Me Charles . . . have taken it up as a business . . . Cullen Landis, juvenile of the silent days and a right good juvenile, too, heads his own orchestra in vaudeville and makes 'em like it . . Wesley (Freckles) Barry, who grew from a gangling youth to a still more gangling man, leads a jazz band on the stage and serves as master-of-ceremonies as well. He's twenty-five now . . . Robert (Juvenile) Agnew left the studios for music. He has his own dance band and was playing Boston at last reports.

Then there are other latent leaders, too . . . Walter (Hard-boiled) Huston plays a half dozen instruments and wants to wave a baton, and Lew Ayres served long enough in an orchestra to conduct one . . . As Ernest Lubitsch says "music and acting are twins."

Are you worried about your child's future? Robert Grandon's Horoscope leaflet may contain some good advice. Write for it enclosing three cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

LANCASHIRE WAGE DEBATE

Canadian Press

Manchester, Eng., Oct. 7.—The general committee of the Master Spinners' Federation to-day recommended that wages of 200,000 Lancashire cotton spinners be reduced at the rate of 20½ pence per pound (about 41 cents per $5).

Workers had offered to accept a reduction of 9⅜d. some time ago, expressing willingness to accept even a greater reduction if the employers would restore the 48-hour working week. The employers indicated a readiness to do this if the operatives would accept a reduction of 20½ pence. Negotiations then broke down.

In a recent month exports of industrial machinery from this country were valued at $4,280,000, an increase of $210,000 over the preceding month.

The Department of Education announced that the status of the school district has been changed to allow of a government grant towards teachers' salaries. A grant of $10 towards high school sports equipment was made. Students taking chemistry will be required to make a deposit of twenty-five cents, "caution" money, to be used to defray breakages of equipment.

The regent gave a report of the semi-annual meeting of the order, held at Trail. In response to an appeal from the National Chapter asking all primary chapters to raise money during the week of November 14 for national work, it was decided to hold an "armistice" tea on Saturday, November 12. Slight Recessions In Wheat Prices On Dwindling Exports

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Oct. 7. — Disappointing overseas cables and a dwindling export trade gave moderate downturns to an erratic wheat market to-day. Prices at the close were ⅜c to ½c lower for the day.

October closed at 48¼, November at 49⅜, December at 50½ and May at 55⅝.

Export trade was disappointing, and the only support to the market came from a strong outside interest. Hedging sales were not particularly heavy, but elevator offerings came with steady regularity and proved more than the demand for actual wheat could cope with.

Fair purchases were made by a large terminal interest, and scattered buying came from the south. The decline, however, was only arrested by the intervention of other strong interests. Overseas news was discouraging with France offering bounties to farmers storing their wheat and German millers not taking advantage of the 30 per cent foreign wheat they are allowed to import.

Interest in cash wheat and coarse grains was dull with the market uninteresting.

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—Wheat: the market continued featureless and draggy. offerings were quite large at the start by way of hedging sale, but this pressure was partially offset by moderate buying by continental houses against export sales, and by further support from the big Canadian interest, while considerable wheat was again taken by this leading interest, it was evident that the price limit was being slightly reduced to keep this market in line for export business.

Offerings were light after the first rush of selling, but the buying other than the one mentioned was very ordinary, and there was a lack of outside interest. Seaboard estimated sales in all positions at 500,000 bushels, including further quantities of Gulf hard wheat to Greece, while it was reported that a part cargo was sold to Greece this morning, a full cargo being sold over night.

The demand for cash wheat was very slow to-day, and practically nothing was changing hands. All spreads were unchanged except No. 1 hard wheat was ⅛ off. Bradstreets North American shipments this week were estimated at 8,589,000 bushels of wheat and flour. Liverpool closed ⅜ to ⅝ lower and Baires was ¼ to ⅜ higher at noon.

Coarse grain: Outside of a little weakness in oats, due to some scattered liquidation and hedging pressure, the coarse grains were steady but dull. A few odd loads of oats and barley are being worked almost daily, but the business is disappointingly small, but there is not much pressure on these markets.

Oats closed ¾ lower, barley ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower, rye ⅛ to ¼ lower, flax 1¼ to 1¾ lower.

CHICAGO

(By Logan & Bryan)

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Wheat liquidation was again in evidence during the early trade with indifferent demand outside of some short covering and buying against bids. New low prices were recorded for the season in all months. Stop-loss selling being active on the early dip under 50 cents for December, there was a better demand in the late trade with final prices ¾-cent under yesterday's close.

General news features showed but little change. Liverpool closed ⅜ to ⅝ lower. Broomhall's news budget from the other side containing little of a constructive character, Argentine shipments were only 919,000 bushels but Australia shipped 2,316,000 bushels. Primary receipts in this country were large, especially in view of the lack of export outlet being 1,140,000 bushels vs. 746,000 a year ago.

Canadian marketings showed a little reduction and Winnipeg had 1,420 cars vs. 670 a year ago. Russian news was bullish but had little effect. Export sales around 500,000 bushels Canadian, but including further quantities of Gulf hard wheat for Greece. Reports indicate that late yesterday a full cargo of hard winters was sold to Greece. Private Argentine cables stressed need of rain in north of that country.

Oats—Trade late with tone rather heavy owing to the action of other grains. Primary arrivals 286,000 vs. 217,000 bushels.

Rye—Followed about same course as other grains, and was draggy.

MOVEMENT OFF AT MONTREAL

Canadian Press

Montreal, Oct. 7.—Continued selling in inter-listed issues led the whole market to lower levels at the close of the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day.

Canadian Pacific closed at 16, down ⅛. Brazilian at 110 and International Nickel at 9 each lost ⅝. Montreal Power closed ¼ lower at 35. Shawinigan, at 14¼, was down ⅜.

Losses of a point or more included Power Corporation, down 1¼ at 10½. Dominion Textile, off 1¼ at 53¾. Consolidated Smelters, a point lower at 74. Bank of Montreal, down 1, at 196.

Dominion Bridge was down ⅛ at 17. National Breweries down ¼ at 16¾. Canada Cement off ½ at 4. Quebec Power ⅞ lower at 13. Cockshutt Plow lost ⅜ at 6. Canadian Car common ⅛ lower at 6, and the preferred lost ¾ at 16¼.

TORONTO MINES CLOSE AT LOWS

Canadian Press

Toronto, Oct. 7.—The list had nothing but gloom to-day for traders on the Standard Mining Exchange. Influenced by weakness in interlisted issues on Wall Street, prices closed at the day's lows.

Weakness centred in the base metal stocks. Nickel and Noranda both touched the lowest level of the current movement, the former closing at 89 and the latter 19.25, after selling slightly lower during the afternoon. Falconbridge fell back to $1.78, Sudbury Basin to 62 and Sherritt Gordon to 50.

Wright-Hargreaves's widely-heralded plans for stepping up production in the near future has not brought about any scramble for the stock which has eased down gradually since the announcement was made. It closed to-day at $2.85.

The Bear Lake stocks had a weak turn to-day and Eldorado finally lost the gain it achieved yesterday, closing about where it was on Wednesday at $1.2. The penny silver issues were also weak.

Dome closed at $11.90 and Teck Hughes at $30.30, both down for the day.

PIONEER GOLD IN BIG JUMP

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—Pioneer Gold, jumping to $4.30 under the reported influence of New York and eastern Canadian interest, has been the feature of the last two sessions. To-day Pioneer held at $4.30 during the forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, with most of the buying reported as coming from sources close to the management of the company.

Georgia River Gold held its recent gains to sell between 4 and 4½ cents, with stock in demand at both figures. Reno Gold was active at 55 and 56, strength coming from favorable operating reports and the probability of the Reno mill starting this month.

Bralorne went up to 60 in small sales and some Beaver Silver sold at 4 on a buyer's sixty-day option. Bridge River Consolidated brought 5 to 5½ cents and Premier was a little stronger at 59 to 60 cents. Pend Oreille was unchanged at 85 cents. National Silver brought an even 2 cents.

There was little action again in the oils, Nordon selling at 10 cents, Merland at 18¼, Royalite at $7.75, Sterling at 13 and 14 and C. & E. at 45 cents. Other oils were inactive.

Sales this morning were:

Mines—6,000 Beaver Silver at 4 (B-60); 125 Bralorne at 60; 2,000 Bridge River Con. at 5, 1,000 at 5¼, 1,500 at 5½; 4,000 Georgia River at 4, 2,000 at 4¼, 1,000 at 4¼, 1,100 at 4½; 100 Inter. Industrials—1,000 Breweries and Dist. at 70; 25 B.C. Tel. pfd. at 84.00.

MORE MONEY IS AVAILABLE

Harvest Yield Will Help All Classes, Says Brenton P. Alley of Commerce Bank

Canada's good harvest this season will have the effect of circulating a lot of money throughout the country, states Brenton P. Alley of Toronto, assistant general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, who is in the city to-day with Mayne D. Hamilton, Vancouver, superintendent for British Columbia.

While here, Mr. Alley is conferring with B. P. Fowler, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce.

Because of the improved conditions brought about by the harvest, Mr. Alley believes that relief operations will be materially reduced on the prairies.

The bank manager is making a tour of Canada and is investigating general conditions as he travels through the country. While there is a much better feeling in the east, he says, the situation is not one that gives indications of an immediate change for the better. The more confident tone, however, had dispelled the panicky feeling which formerly existed.

VASTLY DIFFERENT

In the prairie provinces, Mr. Alley found conditions vastly different from what they were last year. The benefits of the large crop are being felt everywhere. Mr. Alley, however, holds the opinion that the grain returns may not be quite as large as at first expected. The dry weather experienced during the latter part of the ripening season had its effect. The yield may be placed at 400,000,000 bushels.

CLOSED MONDAY

Toronto, Oct. 7 (Canadian Press).—All Canadian financial and commodity markets will be closed on Monday, October 10, Thanksgiving Day.

Must the Husband Always Be the Elder?

Dorothy Dix

Suggests Age Limits for Compatibility

Should a Woman Marry a Man Younger Than She Is?—Why Not, Asks Dorothy Dix, Provided That He Is at Least 30 Years Old and That There Is Not More Than 15 Years' Difference in Their Ages

SHOULD a woman marry a man younger than herself?

No question is asked me oftener than this by women. They are sought in marriage by men with whom they are in love; men who are congenial to them and with whom they have all sorts of interests in common; men who are fitted in every way to make good husbands, but the women hesitate to marry them because they have celebrated a few more birthdays than the men have. The men care nothing for the disparity in age, but the women are held back by their superstitious reverence for the ancient taboo against the wife being the elder of a married couple.

The wisdom of a woman marrying a man younger than herself depends upon two things only, it seems to me. The first is: How much younger is the man than she? And secondly: How old is the man?

Obviously the woman should not be many years older than the man. Certainly not more than fifteen at the utmost. For a woman in her seventies or her eighties to buy her a boy husband is every whit as idotic as it is for a senile old man to purchase him a flapper bride and it turns out as disastrously in one case as the other.

Youth and age can never mate because they have not one single impulse or desire or taste or habit in common and this is equally true whether the woman or the man is the elder. Fortunately, however, elderly millionairesses seldom commit the folly of marrying lads young enough to be their great-grandsons. They lack the vanity that makes a tottering old man of ninety believe that a blooming girl of sixteen loves him for himself alone.

But when a woman is considering marrying a man ten or fifteen years younger than herself the vital point that should determine her decision is his age. If he is twenty and she is thirty it is not to be thought of. If he is thirty and she is forty it is a good matrimonial risk.

The reason for this is plain. At twenty a man still has the mother complex that makes every boy fall in love with his school teacher or any older woman who will take the trouble to entertain him and jolly him along. He still wants to hold on to the hand, so to speak, of some sophisticated woman who will guide him through the strange paths of life. If a very young man marries a woman older than himself she is always more mother than wife to him and he is very certain to turn from her when he grows up to some girl of his own age.

Besides, a boy's tastes and habits are not formed. They are in a state of flux and change from day to day. He does not know what he wants in a wife or what kind of woman will interest him when he is a matured man.

If the man is thirty, however, the situation is entirely changed. He is mature. He is formed. His tastes are settled. And if he wants to marry a woman ten years older than he is it is because she comes up to his ideals and satisfies his judgment.

He prefers ripe fruit to green, the finished product to that in the making. He prefers a woman of poise and dignity to a hobbledehoy who is jumping around like a monkey on a stick. He enjoys the society of a woman who has read and thought and traveled and had experience of life better than he does that of a debutante who can only giggle and talk about what a wild time they had at the last party.

Also it is to be borne in mind that a man or woman's chronological age does not determine their real age, which is a matter of the spirit and mind and heart. Many women of fifty, even, are younger than many men of thirty. So if a man of thirty wants to marry a woman of forty it is because he feels that they are in the same age class, and she is foolish to refuse him because of the different dates on their birth certificates.

The theory that a woman should not marry a man younger than herself is based upon two assumptions, neither one of which is true now. The first is that inasmuch as a girl had to marry for a living the older man made the preferred meal ticket. That was an incontrovertible argument in a time when marriage was not only a woman's sole avocation but vocation, but the modern woman does not have to marry for a living. She can make one for herself. Once when she takes a husband she does not have to consider whether he is old enough to have worked up to a good position or not. If she is ten years older than he is she either has money of her own that she inherited or else she is apt to be safely ensconced in a good job she has made for herself.

The other objection to women marrying men younger than themselves was the fact that women aged more quickly than men, but that is not the case now when beauty culture has become a religious rite with the fair sex and women devote more thought and care to preserving their complexions and their figures than they do to saving their immortal souls, whereas men let Nature take its course with them and get fat and bald and careless about their clothes. Look about you in any crowd and you will see that women look far younger for their age than men do.

So I would say to the woman who is contemplating marrying a man younger than herself: Beware of cradle-snatching. Boy babies do not grow up into satisfactory husbands, but if the man is as much as thirty years old go to it. You will have a better chance of happiness than most wives, because your age will give you more sense about how to get along with your husband.

Life in Olden Babylonia

V—CUSTOMS OF THE PRIESTS

Babylonia contained many cities, among them Borsippa, Cutha, Kish and Eridan. The capital of the country—Babylon—is one of the very famous cities of ancient times.

Devout Babylonian brings a sheep to the priest

In Babylon were several large temples and in the temples lived priests. It was believed that the priests knew many things about the gods and goddesses.

To the heavenly beings, the priests made sacrifices; and people brought sheep, goats, ducks, fish, butter, oil and fruit to the temples as offerings. Some of all of the offerings were burned upon altars to the gods—the priests used some of them as food for themselves.

In addition to their work in the temples the priests acted as judges. When there was a case at law, a priest had to decide who was right and who should be punished.

Priests of Babylon knew how to read, but—in large part—they kept knowledge to themselves, as a sacred art. They taught it to young men who came to the temples with the purpose of becoming priests.

One of the most interesting customs of the priests was to "foretell future events." Sometimes this was done by examining the liver of a sheep. If the liver was not of the usual size or shape, the priest declared that a strange event was about to take place.

Babylonians also tried to tell about future events by watching the moon, the planets and the stars. An eclipse of the moon was supposed to mean that ill fortune was ahead for the country. Travels of the planets were watched, and their changes of position were supposed to mean one thing or another.

You and I many see no good reason to believe that stars or planets have anything to do with the actions of men; but Babylonians looked upon the stars as godlike powers. They gave names to some of the planets. The chief planet, which we call Jupiter, was named Mardok in honor of the greatest god of Babylon. The bright planet now known as Venus was given the name of a goddess—Ishtar.

Some priests of Babylon took special pains to drive away demons. Others learned to play harps and to sing. Still others pretended to tell the meaning of dreams.

Empire Brotherhood Is Stated As Goal

Liverpool, Eng., Oct. 7—"We should treat those in the Dominions as our brothers, not our masters," declared Ronald Walker, vice-chairman of the National Liberal Federation, who is also a Yorkshire woolen manufacturer, speaking here to-day.

"I had no faith in our manufacturers having the right to being heard by a Dominion tariff committee, for I did not think they would get fair play before such a committee," said Mr. Walker.

Building permits issued in Melbourne, Australia, in the last fiscal year were thirty per cent greater than for the preceding twelvemonth.

Committee Groups Disagree on Scale For Teachers' Pay

While that of the teachers' panel provided for four scales, each school district of the province to be allocated to one or other of the four scales.

"In view of the many complicated practical details involved in standard salary scales, this difference of opinion in the fundamental basis on which the scales were to be built was of great importance.

"After considerable debate it became evident no harmonization of the opposite views was possible. It was therefore unanimously agreed that each panel should complete a separate report, and that these reports should then be forwarded through the joint secretaries of the provincial committee to the Minister of Education for his consideration. It was also agreed each member of the provincial committee should be furnished with a copy of each report.

FRANK DISCUSSION

"Although further progress as a full committee was found to be impossible, the meeting was most friendly and harmonious. The discussions were frank and were ably conducted by the various members. As a result of the meetings and the tremendous amount of preparatory work accomplished by both panels, much information of a valuable nature has been accumulated and will be available in connection with the settlement of the question.

"Before adjournment, both panels tendered sincere expressions of appreciation to Judge Cayley for his guidance, courtesy and patience as presiding officer."

"The committee has broken up, though it has not been officially discharged," said R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk of Oak Bay and chairman of the public panel of the provincial teachers' salary committee, this morning.

Mr. Blandy reserved comment on the stand taken by the teachers, pointing out that he as chairman of the public panel, was busy preparing his panel's report for presentation to Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, by October 25, and that the report of the teachers' panel would also be presented at that time.

"However, we are hoping Mr. Hinchliffe will see fit to give the utmost publicity to our report," he said. "We sincerely hope he will give copies to the press, since the teachers' problem involves millions of dollars of the taxpayers' money."

C.N.R. Loads 6,000 Cars Within Week

Winnipeg, Oct. 7.—For the seven-day period ending Wednesday, the Canadian National Railways loaded approximately 6,000 cars of the 1932 crop, or nearly twice the quantity for the same period a year ago.

According to a statement issued by the Canadian National Railways car service department, there were 11,923,000 bushels marketed for the week, as against 7,938,000 bushels for the corresponding period last year. The number of bushels marketed in Manitoba was 1,483,000, Saskatchewan 5,515,000, Alberto 4,924,000.

Since August 1 the Canadian National has loaded 39,270 cars, which is an increase of 20,000 cars over the corresponding period a year ago.

MAN KILLED BY SCALDING STEAM

Canadian Press

Toronto, Oct. 7.—George H. Evans, thirty-five, and Richard Southcott, fifty-two, are fighting for life in hospital to-day and David Hume, thirty-two, is dead following a shower of scalding steam yesterday when a valve-head exploded under 150 pounds of steam pressure in the Canadian National Railways yards here.

The men were working in the valve room, adjusting the pressure to conform with winter requirements when the blast occurred transforming the room into a boiling inferno. Southcott, at the top of a ladder at the time, just about to turn the handle to adjust the pressure, was hurled to the ground and received a fractured skull, in addition to burns.

TARIFFS HIT SHIP LINES

Must Be Lifted Before World Can Forge Ahead, Says Norwegian Operator

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Oct. 7.—"Foolish tariffs must be lifted before the world again can forge ahead to prosperity and ship owners again see their ships trading with profit," said George von. Erpecom of Bergen, managing director of Westfal, Larsen and Company, owner of the Interocean Steamship Line, in addressing the transportation and customs bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade yesterday.

"Modern Overseas Transportation" was his subject.

"How on earth can any country pay its debts or make up its deficit between imports and exports if nobody wants its services or commodities?" the speaker asked.

"My country in 1929 had a trade deficit of $17,500,000, which is normally partly balanced by whaling and shipping. How can we pay for our flour imported from Canada if Norwegian tonnage is restricted in certain trades? I do not need to mention what would happen to England's enormous shipping interests under similar conditions, as that country's merchant fleet represents 28.2 per cent of the world's tonnage."

PLANE CRASHED INTO POWER LINE

Canadian Press

London, Ont., Oct. 7.—Scouting low in the darkness, an airplane piloted by Charles Durant, twenty-two, of London, and carrying Marjorie Macash as a passenger, crashed into high tension wire here yesterday evening and burst into flames.

Durant and Miss Macash jumped from their burning machine, which was suspended on the wires, twenty-five feet to the ground below. Durant suffered a fractured skull and Miss Macash was badly injured.

The airplane caused a short circuit on the lines, carrying 110,000 volts to western Ontario cities, and plunged several cities into darkness until the plane burned away.

Durant's condition was reported as critical at the hospital. He carried a private pilot's license and had taken Miss Macash, a librarian of London, for a flight.

High Speed Developed With Light Airplanes

In light airplanes speeds have been rising lately very rapidly; yet the aircraft have at the same time been made safer to fly. An example of the speeds now attainable by British light airplanes is given by the air race round Thanet. One of the aircraft, flown by E. W. Percival, averaged 140 miles an hour for the course. The race was won by Lieut.-Col. L. A. Strange in a Spartan light airplane.

Col. Strange, who is a director of the Spartan Aviation Company, is an aviation pioneer with a brilliant war record. Spartan light airplanes have proved themselves to be well adapted for flying club use and for passenger carrying; the three-seater in particular offering many advantages for this kind of work.

For aerobatics besides passenger flying British light airplanes, owing to their high load factors and sensitive controls are well suited. The De Havilland "Tiger Moth" that Sir Alan Cobham has taken round Britain on his National Aviation Day Tour, has done 320 hours' flying since April 12. The programme selected by Flight-Lieut. Turner Hughes, who does the aerobatics in this machine, involves four displays of inverted flying daily at a different town each day. At every performance the "Tiger Moth" is subjected to almost every aerobatic known, including inverted loops, bunts, upward spins, flick rolls and flick loops. Yet during the entire tour the "Tiger Moth" was not out of action once through mechanical failure or trouble of any description. Altogether this machine has visited 126 towns and given 260 flying displays.

LONG LIFE

It is not only in their ability to perform difficult aerobatics and in speed that British light airplanes have shown themselves to be well designed and well built; but also in offering long service and trustworthiness. A very remarkable record has been set up by the "Gypsy I Moth" light airplane belong to the Johannesburg Light Airplane Club.

This machine was presented to the club by Lord Wakefield of Hythe, who has consistently supported aviation in all its forms and has generously aided the flying club movement both in Great Britain and in the Dominions. The machine was actually handed over to the club at an official ceremony on October 19, 1929. It was christened the "Sir Charles Wakefield."

The flying times of this machine are so remarkably consistent and the total for thirty-three and a half months so high that the figures repay study. They are as follows:

January		72.55	91.20	62.15
February		81.30	101.30	46.00
March		74.45	83.00	76.55
April		63.20	67.20	42.10

November	65.10	64.50	87.40
December	80.15	55.00	25.10

1930, 12 months	794.30
1931, 12 months	901.30
1932, 7 months	392.30
Total for 33½ months	2,260.10

Average per month—68 hours.

If the average speed is taken at seventy-five miles an hour, therefore, this Moth must have flown some 169,500 miles. But even that does not fairly represent the magnitude of its achievement for, during a great part of the time, the Moth has been handled by "ab initio" flying pupils and S. S. Halse, captain of the Johannesburg Club, states that it has been used for giving flights to almost every class of people—from "pigmies in perambulators to peers, parsons and pathologists."

WIRELESS LINK WITH AUSTRALIA

Radio Communication Is Also Being Steadily Developed With Canada

Linked with the rest of the world by the beam system of wireless, Australasia no longer stands isolated. There has been notable improvement in wireless communication between Australia and Great Britain through the establishment of the beam system, according to Sir George Allard, former chairman of Amalgamated Wireless Ltd., who arrived here yesterday evening by the liner Niagara from Sydney.

He is accompanied by Lady Allard, and their son, Stuart. Sir George stated he was making a hurried trip to London on a business mission. He is traveling via Canada, because it is the quickest way.

ESSENTIAL TO AUSTRALIA

"Wireless is essential to Australasia as a means of direct communication with the rest of the world, because of the great distance that separates her from other countries," said Sir George.

"By means of beam wireless and wireless telephone we are brought into direct touch with the hub of the empire."

The wireless method of speedy communication was also being steadily developed between Australia and Canada, he said.

GOT HIS STATION

Illustrating the advances which have been made in communication between Australia and Great Britain, Sir George recalled the following amusing incident which occurred shortly after the beam system was established. A post office inspector on the east coast of England trying to raise London was unable to secure the connection. "By mistake he got Sydney and, in desperation, asked the Sydney operator if he could put him in touch with London. "The operator most accommodatingly did so, and within a few moments the postal official on the east coast of England was talking with the London office via Sydney, Australia.

Sir George, at the request of the Australian government, in 1925 visited Canada and Great Britain in connection with the establishment of the beam wireless services between Australia and Canada, and Sydney and London.

He is circling the world this trip and expects to be back in Sydney for Christmas.

RAILROAD HELPS FOREST SERVICE CUT FIRE LOSSES

Announcing that forest fire losses this year will probably be the lowest in the history of the west the U.S. government forest service has acknowledged the effective co-operation of the Southern Pacific Company, whose extensive firefighting organization has long been devoted to assisting the federal forces, it was made known to-day.

With a large portion of its 9,000 miles of western lines operated through heavily timbered country, the railroad for many years has maintained "rolling" brigades of firefighting apparatus located at strategic points in the mountain regions, according to J. H. Dyer, vice-president of the company.

Kept under steam constantly during the summer months, three specially-equipped fire trains are ready at a moment's notice to answer an alarm to any point on the railroad's main line in the high Sierra, Dyer revealed, and in all emergencies they are given the right of way.

The most unusual feature of the railroad's activity in fire prevention and firefighting is a lookout station on a peak near the Sierra summit, it was pointed out. By means of an ingenious telescopic device watchmen can detect fires many miles away. Alarms are telephoned to government and railroad fire stations and fire trains are quickly dispatched to the scene.

Newsprint Trade of B.C. Not Affected

Plans For Manufacture of Print Paper From Eucalyptus Wood in Australia Indefinite, Says Sir Mark Sheldon

British Columbia's newsprint export to Australasia is not likely to be adversely affected by proposals in the Commonwealth for the manufacture of paper from eucalyptus pulp, in the opinion of Sir Mark Sheldon, business leader and former Australian trade commissioner to the United States, who passed through Victoria yesterday evening aboard the liner Niagara on his way from Sydney to London.

A British syndicate has been making exhaustive tests with a view to utilizing the vast forests of eucalyptus trees of Tasmania for the manufacture of newsprint.

Experiments had been made, Sir Mark said, but he did not think the manufacture of print paper out of gumwood would be a commercial success.

Sir Mark has been interested in the Powell River and Ocean Falls pulp plants in British Columbia from the inception of the industry here. A large proportion of the newsprint manufactured by the British Columbia pulp mills is shipped to Australasia. It is transported to the South Seas by freighters of the Canadian-Australasian Line.

Trade between Australia and Canada is increasing, Sir Mark stated. The trade between the two countries was not a rapid development, but would grow steadily. Australia has been carrying a heavy load for some time, but there are now signs of a distinct improvement in business, Sir Mark pointed out. The Commonwealth, he said, was one of the first countries to suffer from the world depression, but, in his opinion, it would be among the first to recover.

BALANCING BUDGET

"Australia is adjusting herself to conditions," said Sir Mark. "She is balancing her budget and when she gets through there will be a good surplus. This season's wool clip will be the best the country has ever had, and wool prices are rising."

Turning to world conditions, Sir Mark expressed the view that the United States was in danger of losing more of her foreign trade. He did not think the forthcoming world economic conference, following upon the Ottawa conference, would help world tradg to any material extent.

"Conferences won't help," he said. "You can't alter facts. You can't flout the laws of business and political economy. The world has got to adjust itself to conditions as they exist."

AFTER MORE TRADE

"I am here purely in a commercial capacity, looking into the possibilities of increasing trade between Australia, Canada, the United States and Great Britain," he said.

After looking over things in British Columbia, he will cross Canada and the United States, sailing from New York for Southampton and London. He recalled that his last visit here was but eighteen months ago. "I like to come here to see how things are progressing," he remarked.

Sir Mark is one of the big business men of Australia. He is managing director of Dalton Bros., Sydney's outstanding firm of merchants and importers, and is interested in Anthony Hordern and Sons of Sydney, the Powell River and Ocean Falls pulp mills in British Columbia, and Carmichael and Co. Ltd., Sydney. He is a former president of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Australia.

He was the commonwealth commissioner to the United States from 1919 to 1932 and supervised construction of the ships built for Australia in the United States during the war period. He was a delegate to the League of Nations in 1922 and in 1925 was Australian representative on the Imperial Economic Council.
